Fire Department told to stay in Madoc

Madoc Village Council told the village firemen not to respond to fires in another municipality where there is no agreement. At the July 27 Village Council meeting, Deputy Reeve T.C. Barton explained that if a fireman was injured in an outside municipality where no agreement existed, Workmen's Compensation would not honor a claim. Also, if a fire occurred in the village while the Madoc firemen were at an outside fire, the Madoc resident could sue for lack of protection.

Madoc Fire Chief Jack Martin said the village presently has a zoning agreement with Huntingdon Township and says they are "trying to work together to get an agreement" with Madoc Township.

The measure taken by council excludes calls through Mutual Aid and Hastings Support System. If an emergency occurs and Hastings Support system calls Madoc Fire Department for assistance with the jaws of life, Workmen's Compensation will cover them in outside municipalities, said Barton.

Council also resolved to advise Madoc Township of this recent decision in writing.

During a Red Cross pool party held recently at Campkin's Camp Ground pool, some of the youngsters were hesitant to enter the water without a little urging by instructors or leaders. Seen here is leader Dawn Wiggins helping a child in.

Students write history

Wendy Reeves and Janice Fleming, students of Centre Hastings Secondary School (CHSS) are nearing the completion of a summer historical research project on Ivanhoe.

Under funding from the Summer Canada Project, the Huntingdon Township Council hired the girls to write the first history book of Ivanhoe ever. They are scheduled to finish the project by August 26, or when the book is complete.

In addition to writing the book, Janice says they are going to get pictures of all the former reeves and hang them in the Township Hall.

"We haven't done it all ourselves, we've had a lot of help from members of the community," says Janice.

The book will begin back in 1850 when the first settlers came to the Ivanhoe area. Some of the things covered will be a history of the Ivanhoe Cheese factory, blacksmith shops, churches and community life.

Janice says most of the families living in the community today are descendants of the early settlers and could contribute the kind of information they needed. Also, people formerly of the area that have been contacted for information were "great".

"My aunt Bessie knew a lot about the history and community life. People have interviewed her for their university history thesis," says Janice, also a native of Ivanhoe.

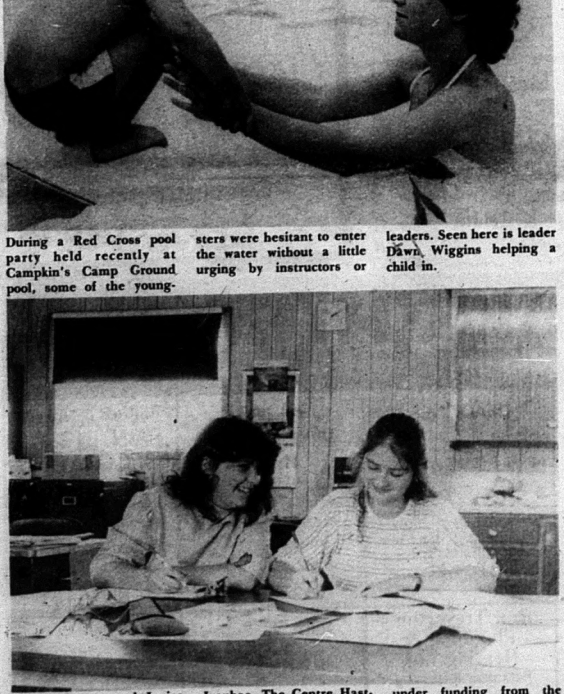
Another major source of information for the book was the Tweedsmuir, a book compiled by the local Women's Institute.

"No one has written a full book on the history of Ivanhoe, but the Tweedsmuir was a big help....the Women's Institute helped a lot," says Janice.

The girls say the book has progressed very well so far and they think it should be ready to print in September. They say that most of the grant will go toward the printing costs, and if there isn't enough, they are sure the community will pitch in and help.

"Publishing is going to take most of the funds. If we need more, we will hold fundraising events," says Janice. "I'm sure the community will help us with what we decide to do."

When the girls were asked about what the title of the new book will be, they smile, exchange mysterious looks, and Janice says: "We will title the book to suit Ivanhoe's history and people."



Wendy Reeves and Janice Fleming are nearing completion of research and writing of the history of Ivanhoe. The Centre Hastings Secondary School [CHSS] students were hired by Huntingdon Township under funding from the Summer Canada Works Project. The book should be printed in September.

P&C runs hot

P & C Sports have not lost a game in the last month, they are now entering the third round of OASA Peewee playoffs. In the first round they beat out Stirling in two straight games.

In the first game against Stirling, the boys had to fight back and score four runs in the bottom of the seventh to get the win. Scott Chapman went the distance for P & C, while Steve Bancroft took honors at the plate. Steve slammed a long ball to the fence with the bases loaded for a triple, while Graig Nobes singled in the winning run.

In the second game played at Stirling, timely hitting and running the bases was the big difference in the game. With runners on first and second, Brian Derry layed down a perfect bunt on his third strike to load the bases. Bobby Buck then doubled driving in two big runs.

In the second round of OASA playdowns P & C won the first game against Deseronto by default, when they could only field eight players.

In the second game playing before a large crowd, P & C Sports won a close game by 4-3. Going into the last inning with the score tied 3-3, P & C Sports right fielder Graig Nobes hit a towering drive to deep center field for a home run, to give the local boys the win.

If the boys can get by the next round, they will enter in the All Ontario Championship tournament in Fenelon Falls in September. Jack and Tony Douglas has these boys playing excellent ball so let's get out and show some support. Good luck P & C Peewees.

O'Hara Pioneer Day comes on weekend

Preparations are presently under way for a day of fun and activities at O'Hara's Mill, Madoc, on August 14. This will be the day on which the annual pioneer settlement in the community is celebrated and re-enacted to some extent with various demonstrations of woodworking, crafts, pioneer homesteading, blacksmith shop, schoolhouse and many other things. The mill will be in operation for short periods and all the buildings will be open to the public. There will also be square dancing, the Marmora Band to entertain, a Scottish piper playing on the grounds and a centennial fashion show given by the staff of Foxboro Fabrics.

Goldie Holmes will be present with her display of quilts, many of which feature local scenes and have attracted provincial attention through television, her visits to several exhibitions and her talks to groups in other centers.

Refreshments will be served by the Madoc firemen while the Marmora Fire Department have kindly volunteered a display of their antique engines. The staff at O'Hara's this summer are students hired under summer works programs assisted by government funding. They have already accommodated a steady flow of summer visitors in addition to hundreds of school children who came in June with their teachers. This year the children were given organized tours of the buildings with explanations about pioneer life. It is hoped that an educational program can be continued and maybe even expanded in the future, as the O'Hara facility provides a cost free learning opportunity of a unique character, and in the loveliest setting.

The pioneer day which is organized by the Moira Conservation Authority in conjunction with the O'Hara's Management Committee, is open to everyone, free of charge, from 1:30 - 4 p.m. Bring a picnic, or just come and enjoy an afternoon of reliving the past, bring the family, bring a friend, but be sure to come! It will be cancelled in the event of rain.

Township ball report

By ISABELLA SHAW

Again this week many games were re-scheduled due to ORSA games or were rained out. Lassie girls played one of their games, (the other was rained out) and lost to Queensboro. Peewee girls did not play league play this week. Bantams travelled to Frankford on Wednesday night and lost 22-9. One car load of young ladies had car trouble and didn't make it home too early. Boy, the excitement of playing ball.

Atom boys defeated Springbrook in a four-pointer and this game is reported elsewhere.

Squirt boys split their games with a loss to Springbrook and a win against Queensboro on Thursday. No report from the Peewee boys or the Bantam boys' games.

I hear the Bantam boys have a new helper in the coaches' box. It's nice to see you in the coaches' box, Charlie.

Most of the ladies' games were rained out as were some of the men's games. Only game reported was the Tannery - Ivanhoe Cheese game, and Tannery won 7-6. Jack and Brennan shared pitching duties for Tannery and Chris Spencer and Darryl Wood shared the duties for Ivanhoe. I understand it was a very exciting game. Three home runs were scored by Laurie Trotter, Brennan Devolen and Duane Foley.

Old tree thrives in cities

By ARLIN HACKMAN

The distinctive fan-shaped leaves of the ginkgo always catch my eye in the bustle of big-city streets. How this oldest living tree species survives 20th century ills is a mystery. But hen mystery is practically its middle name.

Sometimes known as the Chinese maiden hair tree, the ginkgo is a combination fern, pine tree and hardwood which narrowly escaped extinction, its only home for generations being a remote monastic community in western China. Botanical treatises usually refer to the tree as a native of China or Japan. This is not quite accurate. What the authors really mean is that the horticultural or cultivated ginkgo trees that we know came from stock imported from that region. For the truth is that not a single wild stand of ginkgo trees is growing anywhere in the world today. Nor has there been, apparently, throughout human memory.

Were it not for the fact that fossils indicate the same ginkgo tree we know today grew in exactly the same way 200 million years ago, one might suppose that oriental gardeners created it from other species. Unless of course you understand the physiology of trees. Because the structure, par-

Heart fund over the top

At the close of its fiscal year, the Canadian Heart Fund's Ontario Division has reached its $8.45 million annual campaign objective.

The 1983 campaign, which was conducted during February in Ontario, exceeded its goal by about $28,600. Door-to-door canvassing, special events, corporate solicitations, the sale of 'Roses for Research', and in Memoriam donations all contibuted to the final total of $8,478,611.

Bequests and other sources of income combined with campaign receipts will allow the Ontario Heart Foundation to allocate $11,200,000 to heart disease and stroke research in Ontario for the 1983-84 granting period.

In presenting his report, Alex D. Broomfield, the 1985 Canadian Heart Fund Chairman said, "the residents in the province of Ontario can be proud of their substantial contributions to the crusade against heart disease and stroke.

Evidence to date that research has paid off is in the fact that the overall death rate from heart and blood vessel diseases, for people under 65 years of age, it down 27 per cent since 1953. Marked reductions have been achieved in deaths due to stroke. In heart attack, the single leading cause of death in Canada, the decline has only been 11 per cent. He continued by saying that the residents of Ontario have endorsed the work of the Ontario Heart Foundation, through their continuous support over the years and that vital medical research in the area of heart disease and stroke will continue to receive the financial support of the foundation.

In conclusion - and on behalf of the Canadian Heart Fund, Ontario Division, Mr. Broomfield expressed "heartfelt" thanks to the thousands of volunteer workers and canvassers in the province, for their tremendous support of the 1983 campaign.

County Planning Board report

Subdivision

The planning policy in Ontario is to encourage development by means of registered plans of subdivision. This method ensures that land use occurs in an orderly manner, minimizing conflicts with existing uses and safeguarding development from occurring on unsuitable or hazardous sites. However, as a recent report of the County Planning Department reveals, development by registered plans has been limited. "Since the establishment of universal subdivision control, some 4,000 lots have been created by consent of the Land Division Committee while only 793 have resulted from the approval of registered plans of subdivision as of January 1983."

A total of 55 plans of subdivision were reviewed. Fourteen were considered impractical by the Minister of Housing due to development constraints such as the lack of potable water, poor drainage and so forth. Seventeen were given draft approval of which seven have lapsed when the conditions of development were not attained within the three year time period. The report states: "...the escalating cost of servicing prospective lots prompted developers to simply abandon their plans and make no attempt to fulfil the conditions of draft approval."

The remainder will potentially create 579 permanent residential lots and 24 seasonal lots. Six of these plans have been given extensions beyond the three year time period due to unforeseen delays in meeting the requirements of draft approval.

All of the remaining 22 plans have received final approval, are registered and available for development. These plans created 398 permanent residential lots. The report states: "Despite planning policies encouraging development to take place in urban centres where public water and waste disposal services can be relatively easily and inexpensively supplied, 229 permanent residential lots have been created in the rural area and only 169 in the urban centres." Even though more than half of these plans were approved prior to 1979 only eight of the rural lots and 27 of the urban lots had been developed by January 1983.

The seven other plans which were approved created 395 seasonal lots, but only 29 of these have been developed. The report points out that there are essentially 729 lots available for sale and development today, and it is highly unlikely that most of these will be sold within the foreseeable future. Recently some developers have begun to auction off their lots so as to recoup some of their investment.

There are several factors contributing to the lack of development on these lots. Subdivisions are most commonly associated with urban environments. The movement of people from cities to the countryside is a recent and growing phenomenon. Since 1976, the populations of the urban centres has actually declined, hence there is little demand for new housing in these centres. Conversely the rural areas have grown, and the availability of comparatively cheap building lots diminishes the need for traditional subdivisions. The severance report revealed that the average size of a new residential lot was five acres. This suggests that physical space is an important dimension of the rural residential lifestyle.

The subdivision report points out the extent to which the expense of servicing has thwarted the development of subdivisions. "Many of the draft plans which lapsed did so because the applicants could not meet the financial requirements of servicing the lots in order to make them available for sale. The cost of road building, in particular, is prohibitive for the individual or small partnership - the kind of developer typically operating in Hastings County."

Road construction in the Canadian Shield can cost between $40,000 and $120,000 per mile. If hydro lines are not in place, installation costs approximately $25,000 per mile. These servicing costs along with the expense of land assembly must all be passed on to the purchaser if the developer is to make a profit. Effectively, because of these costs the price of a single family dwelling in a subdivision can be considerably higher than the cost of building a comparable home on a severed lot along an existing road where hydro lines are already available.

The popularity of seasonal home ownership has declined over the past 10 years. Affordability is one reason, but attitudes about leisure time have also changed. More people prefer the freedom of planning vacations in different locations from year to year. Today there are more accommodation alternatives - resort time-sharing, four seasons resorts, camping and seasonal rental of trailer sites. Many of the lakes in the county suitable for cottage development are too far from the major markets of Toronto, Ottawa and the northern United States. All of these factors have contributed to the weakened demand for seasonal lots.

There is little likelihood and possibly less need for more plans of subdivision within the county. The report concludes: "Given the performance of the plans with final approval and such factors as the disadvantages of location, changing residential demands, development costs and the general economic outlook in Hastings County which is not likely to stimulate a sudden large demand for housing, there is no apparent need for further development through registered plans of subdivision. The supply of lots available in final and draft approved plans at present, in addition to lots created through consent of the Land Division Committee, is more than sufficient to meet the expected demand of the next 20 years."

Frankford overpowers Madoc

Frankford Squirts came to Madoc Thurs., Aug. 4 and came out with an easy 22-6 win over the locals. This gives Frankford three wins and one tie with Madoc over the season's play.

The Frankford team had only an 8-6 edge after four innings, but from then on it was downhill for Madoc and a run-away for the visiting bunch.

Jason Bailey and Barclay Sexsmith shared the Madoc twirling and walked 14 batters and allowed 10 hits, while striking out eight men.

For Frankford Tony Generaux, Daryl Holden and Doug Croft pitched. Madoc had nine hits, two walked and nine struck out.

Robyn Plumbe kept up his torrid clip with the bat and enjoyed a perfect two for two at bat. (This gives Robyn an unequalled .543 batting average; he has hit safely in 13 consecutive games and has had 10 safe hits in his last 11 times at the plate.)

Shawn Chapman also is climbing up very fast in his batting average. He slammed out a two for three at bat, including a triple and a double. Actually, he has had eight safeties in his last 10 at bat and is now hitting .308.

Paul McMaster went one for one at bat, stole two more bases (a team leading 18) and walked twice (13 times in his last four games - and a team leading 24).

Jason Bailey, Troy Bertrand and Pat Bailey each gained single hits.

Pat Bailey, Jason Bailey and Shawn Chapman now all own a three game safe hitting streak after this outing.

Robyn Plumbe scored two runs to continue to lead the team in that department with 26. His 25 hits also are a team high to date.

The Madoc Squirts have two games left to play in the regular schedule this week. (1) in Springbrook, Tues., Aug. 9 at 6:30 p.m. and then (2) at home Thurs., Aug. 11 at 7 p.m. against Eldorado.

Results from week of Aug. 1 - Aug. 7: Tweed 20 Springbrook 5; Stirling 12 Frankford 5; Springbrook 14 Eldorado 10; Frankford 22 Madoc 6; Eldorado 21 Queensboro 4.

With one week left in regular season's play the Centre Hastings Squirts playdowns will be held on the Tweed diamonds Sat., Aug. 27.

Alarming increase in rabies

Rabies is a very serious virus disease which is contagious and fatal to patients not receiving adequate treatment.

Rabies is a world problem which is spreading alarmingly across Europe and North America. It is carried by wildlife species, such as foxes and skunks. The wild animals infect pets and livestock, which in turn become dangerous sources of infection to man. There were over 2,500 confirmed cases of animal rabies in Canada during the past 12 months, and the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources is now studying possible means of vaccinating wildlife carriers of the disease.

Rabies can be prevented quite simply in pets and livestock by a regular vaccination program.

Research involved in the prevention of this often fatal disease has been very active and a company world-renowned for their efforts in this field is Institut Merieux. They have now produced a safe vaccine which can be used for dogs, cats, cattle, sheep and horses. This product, IMRAB, has just been released in Canada by May & Baker Canada Inc., one of Institut Merieux's associated companies, and is available from MTC Pharmaceuticals, 5100 Timberlea Blvd., Mississauga, Ontario L4W 2S5.

Canadian pet and livestock owners are urged to ask their veterinarians about IMRAB, since it offers an ideal means of breaking the chain of rabies transfer from wildlife to domestic animals and pets to humans.

Breeders' club history

The Ottawa Valley Breeders' Club was loosely formed on October 22, 1982. The first meeting took place at the home of Don and Billy Wiles, of Maple Hill Farms, RR1, Renfrew, Ontario.

On July 15, 1983, a combined meeting of this club and the East Central Ontario Maine-Anjou Breeders' Club was held at Don and Billy Wiles.

Present from the Ottawa Valley Club were Don and Billy Wiles; Gerry and Lorna Chant; Joe and Zenith Baudoin; Art Saunderson, Alan Roffey and Chris Molgat. Visitors from the East Central Breeders' Club were: Leo Cassidy; Bill Bickle; Dale and Fay Grant; Dave and Mary Jane Perry; Keith Gilbert; Glen, Joan and Darcy Jaynes; and Velma Smith. Before moving inside, Don showed us his impressive herd of Maine-Anjou cattle.

The meeting discussion was led by Don Wiles. The first item was deciding on a percentage show for Renfrew Fair. Heifers under two years, and a cow and calf class two years and over were selected as catagories.

The Ottawa-Carleton Plowing Match to be held in Richmond from September 27 to October 1 was discussed. Space for a booth as well as a 10' x 10' pen for cattle will be available for us. The only electrical we should require will be for a coffee pot. Velma Smith will arrange the display. The display will include pictures from the CMAA as well as ROP information from Ontario sources. The clubs are planning to raffle off a half of beef and a holding pen. The booth will be open from 9 a.m. - 6 p.m. and volunteers to man it are Art Saunderson, Don and Billy Wiles, Joe Baudoin and Velma Smith.

Dave Perry's culling committee was asked to select animals for the display pen. Although no slate of officers has as yet been chosen for the Ottawa Valley Breeders' Club it did not detract from the enthusiasm there. After a tasty meal served by Billy Wiles, all headed for home with the feeling that the Maine-Anjou cattle future in Ontario indeed looks progressive.

Getting ready for your fair

Your local fair is the highlight for you and your 4-H project. Make sure that you are ready for the day's program. Careful planning and packing ahead of time can ensure that everything goes well!

Here's a check list - How many of these things do you have "under control":

Before the Fair

1. Make sure you know that your project passes the health regulations.
2. Wash and clip your project at least a month before your first show. This will help get rid of dried on manure and yellow stains. Take your animal to the fair clean. Clipping a month before the show allows the hair to grow back if you make a mistake. If possible, practice on other calves and cows in your herd, then clip your calf for the final time as close to the fair as possible.
3. Trim hooves two (2) weeks before the fair to give them a chance to "toughen up" before the show.
4. Practise leading your project.

Things to Take

1. Pail for water.
2. Feed.
3. Show Halter.
4. Rope Halter.
5. Brush, combs, soap and cleaning bucket.
6. Straw for bedding.
7. Show clothing—dairy whites; other - neat and clean.

If the fair provided passes, don't forget to take your pass to get in!

Things to Remember

1. Keep the area at the fair around your project clean.
2. If hatbands are to be worn, no other hat should be worn under the hatband.
3. Make sure you arrive at the fair on time and you are ready to enter the ring when the class starts.
4. Keep a constant check on your project - don't leave it unattended for a half day while you look around the fair. Make periodic checks back to the barn.

Nature's strange tree

of the ginkgo hints as clearly as the fossil record that it was among nature's early experiments in tree design. Its leaves have an odd texture. Its fruit looks rather like a rotted, brown cherry — but is quite different on close inspection. It is one of the ancient "naked seed" forms more closely related to the seed of a pine than a cherry.

The finding of fossil leaves and fruits lends an extra dimension of mystery since they have turned up in stone across the Arctic and as far south as England. A fossil record half a world away from recent living trees suggests that once the ginkgo had a world-wide distribution. Ice age glaciers apparently wiped out all but the Asian remnant of the species.

The real mystery of the gingko, however, is that neither it nor any relatives can be found in the wild. Given the many unusual ticularly the seed structure, qualities which enable it to survive in the modern metropolis, including resistance to fungi and air pollution, one must wonder why it failed to recover from the glacier catastrophe as so many other species have.

Agriculture briefs

Faster-growing Sheep and Cattle

Faster-growing sheep and cattle may be near thanks to efforts by Canadian and British scientists.

British scientists have increased the growth rate of lambs by more than 30 per cent by manipulating the animal's hormones.

By immunizing the lambs against one of their own hormones, somatostatin, more growth promoters are released into the blood by the animal.

Canadian scientists now are determining whether the British procedure can be used on the larger, commercial breeds of sheep and on cattle.

New Triticale Variety

A promising new triticale variety developed by Agriculture Canada plant breeders, may be licensed and available for commercial planting in three years.

The new variety has a kernel weight about 10 per cent heavier than Carman, the most popular of the three Canadian Triticale spring-planted varieties.

According to the breeders, the new variety is better than Carman, Welsh and Rosner.

Seed Company Fined

A Canadian seed company has been fined for the improper sale of seed after an investigation by Agriculture Canada's Food Production and Inspection Branch officials.

Garden Seed Co. Ltd., of Roxboro, Que., pleaded guilty to three charges under the Canada Seed Act. The company was fined a total of $300.

The drought:

Is it over and how much damage did it do?

In a poll across the chain of papers owned by Cembal Publications, the consensus appears to be that the rain came just in time for most things as long as the drought is over and we get a good deal more rain during the month of August.

First crop hay seems to have produced a bumper crop this year but, as you'll read below, second crop hay "was non-existent" in most of the area.

The corn crop was hit pretty hard in some areas and not so hard in others. Surprisingly, farmers from town to town report differing amounts of rain that had an effect on their crops. If rain continues to fall at intervals during August, the crops could improve and not be too far off normal production. If the hot, dry weather continues through August, farmers and the buying public will likely feel the pinch.

Grain crops vary. Most farmers predict a slightly lower yield although it appears the rain came in time to save those crops. The grains in general have not grown as well this year, but again reports vary from area to area. One farmer told of seeing a farmer combining grain about 6 inches in height.

Cash croppers who could irrigate will likely survive and even have good yields. Others may be wiped out or face significant decreases in yield this year. Again, periodic rain through August can make or break many producers.

Honey yields across the province appear to be down considerably according to one producer and that means that if you want to buy this year's honey, buy it early. Bulk prices may remain relatively low but prepackaged honey on store shelves could skyrocket, depending on just how bad the yield was.

Next week - THE DROUGHT: EVERY CLOUD HAS A SILVER LINING

Time of planting and type of soil will tell story in Centre Hastings

"Time of planting and type of soil will determine just how well crops will do in the area," said Wayne Martin of the Hastings Ministry of Agriculture and Food recently when asked about the long-term effects of the drought which recently ended.

Martin says there is still hope for some of the local corn fields where the soil is less gravelly and held water better during the drought.

Last year our area yielded about an average of 80 bushels of corn per acre, but Martin feels that this year the average will be lower. While the drought was on, he said there would be about a 25 to 50 per cent yield reduction, but could improve slightly with some rain.

Martin said moods amongst farmers in the area varied. "Livestock producers were not as concerned about the drought, because they had a good first crop of hay. The cash crop farmers are more concerned because most have all their eggs in one basket, and may have nothing to fall back on."

Martin said although the grain crops in this area may have suffered from the drought, others may have fared better. Prices may not go up as high as some farmers predict.

A local farmer who grows corn and soya bean for grain to feed hogs said: "It's just plain serious right now. It's pretty bleak. I've got a lot of money in the ground right now, and it doesn't look like any money is going to come."

The farmer added that he usually grows enough to feed his stock and to sell the excess. But this year, he will have to purchase grain to feed the hogs.

"I project a definite loss this year because the price of corn has gone up. You can't give pigs grain at those prices and show a profit," said the farmer. "By fall you're probably going to look at a long dollar for corn."

The man said most of his crops have burned out at the ground level and no amount of water will help them. He said a good "ground soaking" rain such as the ones she area recently had could help some of the plants.

Madoc

Mark Godfrey of the Madoc area is growing 33 acres of cabbage for use at the Godfrey Growers' sauerkraut and salad plant. He said that during the drought he was "watering as much as he could, using near-by pond water, but was still 'definitely affected' by the drought."

He added that although the cabbages have lost about one month of growing, there is still a chance for good yield. He said cabbages grow into large heads by September if there is a good balance of rain and sun. If there is too much rain in September, however, the plants may not grow.

"One year when we had a wet September, they (the cabbage) didn't grow," said Godfrey.

Glenn Franks of RR1, Tweed, said the rain came too late for his second crop of hay, but the first crop was "very good". The wet spring and dry July were perfect for first crop.

During the drought, Franks said his corn for silage was at a critical stage. He said that two more weeks without rain would cause a severe drop in production. With the recent rain, his crops should fair better.

"Pea crops are a write-off, but tomatoes and other vegetable survival is based on irrigation," said Martin.

"Bob Perry of Produce Processors in Trenton predicted a 10 per cent increase in vegetable prices because of the drought."

Martin also expects an increase in the price of apples this year. He said there had been some apples dropping off the trees due to the extremely hot weather conditions.

"When you're driving along the road, the difference from one field to the next is sometimes quite a contrast....I wish we could project when the first frost will come and then we could predict just what will happen," said Martin.

Marmora

Jim Hughes, a dairy farmer in the Marmora area, feels that things have a tendency to even out. He says his first crop of hay was a good crop but the prolonged dry spell cut his pasture down. He feels the wet spring produced the good first crop but the dry summer has reduced the pasture to the point that farmers have had to feed hay and silage to keep their milk production up.

"We weren't affected here as bad as we could have been," he told Cembal Publications. "We had that good crop of hay and we're hoping to sell some this year. We're feeding hay already."

He felt that the price of grain was going to be higher this year as crops would be down in yield due to the prolonged dry spell.

Jim Bateman, a beef farmer in the area, felt that the drought had made the pasture non-existent. "The first crop of hay was about the same as last year and last year was a good year," he said. When it came to second crop hay, Bateman didn't even try. He just let the cattle into the hayfields.

On other crops, Bateman stated, "The corn I've seen doesn't look too good although the judge for the fair from the Stirling area and he said our crops are better than theirs. I don't think the rain was in time to save the oats."

In the garden, the drought slowed things down as far as Bateman is concerned. "Everything seemed to be at a standstill," he said. "The corn seems to be coming back now that we've had some rain."

Elizabeth Pattison of Pattison's Honey Farm south of Marmora agreed, with that consensus although she felt things may have been more critical in their area.

"The drought almost wiped out our garden," she said. "We had to draw water from the quarry. Another week or two and it would have died." She felt overall yield was down this year.

As far as honey was concerned, she felt there

Hastings

Don Richardson is a dairy farmer from Hastings. This summer's drought has affected him, but not as bad as expected.

"The second cut of hay didn't come back as we hoped," says Richardson, who has a wife, three children and some 80 dairy cattle. "It grew back about 10 to 15 per cent of what it should, so we will get some second cut."

Richardson also says that othe crops are down from normal.

"We have about 2/3 of a crop of barley and oats," he says. "The corn should recover if we continue to get the rains. We might be able to get about an 80 per cent yield."

During the drought, he fed his cattle exclusively on hay and haylage and kept hay and haylage and keeping them cool wasn't a problem as there are lots of shade trees in the pasture.

Richardson feels that some main problems of the drought won't be felt until winter.

"I expect grain prices will be strong and hay prices will probably be up," he explained. "I expect that all feed prices will be up this winter."

But he does see a good side to all of this, in respect to the quota prices.

"This could also make mile supply a demand," he says. "If that is the case, hopefully the quota prices will drop."

Stirling

"The chances of many people having less feed (for dairy animals) than they planned is pretty good," Martin says. Some farmers, depending on how much of which silage crops they planted, will either have less carry-over or will find themselves having to buy feed for their livestock this winter. The first hay crop in most parts of Hastings

Havelock/Norwood

The hot weather and long dry spell has taken its toll in the Havelock/Norwood area on most farms but in varying degree depending on the soil.

Charles Lobb, RR1, Norwood, who is located north of Norwood on the 6th line of Asphodel said his oats and barley are at half the usual crop and the corn very bad, reaching not even a foot in height.

His pasture is eaten down and the cattle are having their feed supplemented by hay, but the hay crop was not adversely affected because most was harvested before the prolonged dry spell.

Bill Thompson, in the Havelock area, reports a good hay crop as well but he has had to draw water as have many in the area. His corn has short patches but on the whole is not too bad and the oats are perhaps off a bit but there will be a good

See Havelock on page 3A

Lakefield

While the heavy rain at the end of July saved that month from being the driest since weathermen started keeping records 140 years ago, the damage for some crops in the area had already been done.

According to Don Caza, who with his wife Bern runs a pick-your-own farm outside of Buckhorn, this has been the worst year he has ever seen for oats, corn and wheat.

The dry June and July we've just experienced, followed one of the wettest springs in memory. For farmers that produced a double jeoprody situation. It was hard to get crops in in the spring, then once in, the crops burned up during July. Because many crops were planted later than usual their root systems had little time to develop before the drought hit.

According to Caza the heads on the wheat and oat

Springbrook Sparks lead quarter-finals 1-0

The Springbrook Sparks Bantam girls' softball team have taken a one game to zero lead in their Ontario Rural Softball Association provincial quarter-final series against Warkworth.

The Warkworth team was soundly thrashed 11-1, by Springbrook in a game which featured timely hitting and a spectacular pitching performance by Spark's pitcher Debbie Carson.

Offensively the team was led by Connie Foshay, who went three for four at the plate, with two runs batted in and three runs scored, along with two stolen bases.

The run scoring broke down this way: Connie Foshay 3, Debbie Carson and Chris Reid 2 a piece, Tammy Teertstra, Tracey Danford, Leanne Johnston and Tracey Morton, scoring single runs.

In the runs batted in department Tracey Danford drove in three including a two-run triple. Connie Foshay, Tammy Teertstra and Lisa Williams had two-RBIs a piece, with singles going to Leanne Johnston and Chris Reid.

Defensively the game can be summed up in two words: Debbie Carson. Debbie pitched a game to remember with 17 strike-outs and four walks. She allowed no hits, giving up a single unearned run on a walk and a throwing error. The win was the second straight complete game victory in the provincial playdowns for Debbie.

The second game in the series will be played Monday, August 8, at 8 p.m. in Warkworth, with Leanne Johnston going to the mound for the Springbrook Sparks.

The winner of the best-of-three series will host the provincial semi-finals this weekend. So far Hornby is the team favored to oppose Springbrook or Warkworth.

Springbrook Sparks' Connie Foshay sent this ball off into left field for a single that scored a run last Sunday night. The Sparks went on to defeat Warkworth 11-1, as Debbie Carson pitched a no-hitter for the victors.

Eldorado Atoms advance

The Eldorado Atoms won the third and deciding game in their first round play against Frankford. One hour before game time the skies opened up and the rain came down forcing the cancellation of other league games but the ORSA game was played. The sun came out and within a few minutes of the field the surface was playable. Final score of the game was Eldorado 11 and Frankford 5.

Frankford scored one run in the first but then Eldorado took over with three runs in the second, six in the third to put them ahead and in control of the game with a 9-1 lead. The teams exchanged runs in the fourth. Eldorado finished their scoring in the fifth, while Frankford added one in the sixth and two in the seventh.

Marty Shaw pitched the complete game for Eldorado allowing only two safe hits, giving up seven walks and striking out 10. Jaimie C. on the mound for Frankford struck out five and served up eight hits. These hits included two triples hit by Troy Trotter and a home run by Marty Shaw, which led off their third inning, six run onslaught. The winning run was scored by Joe McCaw in the third on Troy's triple.

The one bright spot for Frankford on Monday night was the smile on the pitcher's face. It seemed no matter how bad things appeared Jaimie always had a smile on his face.

Eldorado with this win advances to their second round against Tweed, a series which started on Thursday night.

In regular league play, the team travelled to Springbrook on Wednesday night and came home with a 4 point victory. Final score was 16-4.

After a slow start, the team bounced back and held Springbrook to only one run in the first five innings. Part the first five innings. Pat Graham was on the mound striking out 9, walking one and serving up seven hits. Bats were hot as sixteen runs crossed the plate.

Home runs were scored by Pat, Scott and Troy. Shawn F. and Craig H. had three runs each. Scott, Brad, Pat and Marty had two runs each. Charlie and Troy had one run each.

This win puts them into first place in the league with 15 wins, four losses and one tie for 31 points.

League tournament will be played in Frankford some time in July.

Junior Cheddars finish year

The Junior Cheddars finished their first year as an expansion team with a 2-0 loss to the Springbrook Royals.

Playing with only eight players, the team played good defensive ball and held the Royals scoreless until the bottom of the fourth, when a triple, a single and an error resulted in two runs by the Royals. These runs were scored by J. Reid and R. Bateman.

Mike Franks gave up five hits, one walk and struck out two. R. Bateman for the Royals served up five hits, four strike outs and no walks.

D. Reed, B. Devolin, B. Bateman, M. Franks and C. Shaw connected for the hits.

In the first game of ORSA playdowns, Douro defeated the Cheddars 5-0 in a game than proved to be closer than the score.

It showed that Douro has a very strong pitching staff. They chalked up 12 strike outs, three walks and three hits. Eldorado's battery combined for six hits, no walks and two strike outs. These six hits combined with a few errors accounted for all of Douro's runs.

Hits for Eldorado were collected by Ringelmann, Harris and Franks.

An Eldorado Atom team member made an unsuccessful attempt at a hit during last Thursday night's game in Eldorado. The Atom B, round 2 game ended with a score 33 to 5 for the home team.

The drought: Is it over and how much damage did it do?

Stirling

County was excellent, but the second cutting, which should have come a week or two ago, was non-existent, Martin says.

Marvin Cooney, who raises dairy cattle, apples, tomatoes and vegetables in Rawdon Township agrees that some farmers will be short of feed this winter, and that buying replacement feed will hurt their pocketbooks.

Cooney, who runs 1,200-acre Cooney Farms with his brother Norman, says they'll be able to feed their 112 milking cows themselves this winter. As for the farms' other crops, "we would not have had any corn or any tomatoes if it hadn't been for irrigation this year. Our crops would have been a complete loss."

And the Cooneys' apples are suffering too, he says. Two men on his farm spent a week watering the young trees, but "we need a lot more rain if we're going to have a decent, average apple crop this year," Cooney says.

Marmora

was no doubt that the drought had affected honey production. "Production right across the province is down from what we can gather from talking to other producers in the association," she said. "It's going to be a rare item," she thought. "Without water, the plants won't secrete nectar." The bees, she says, are just like people during the heat - they won't fly as far. "People who want this year's honey should buy early. Honey doesn't spoil from one year to the next, but some people like fresh honey."

crop.

Gardeners found that crops like raspberries dried on the vines this year but in general the report is that the vegetables are reviving after the recent rains and although the potatoes are small for this time of year the beans are coming along well.

One adverse effect of the dry spell noticed especially to the east and north of Havelock in the Cordova Mines district are numbers of trees that have died because of the drought. In places whole sections of maples of fairly large size have leaves brown and wrinkled and will not survive.

Lakefield

crops are not filling out. "What we're getting is all hull and no meat," he said. "You can combine it but it just blows out the back. The best thing to do is cut it for hay or to let the cows in to graze on it."

While Caza usually gets 50 bushels to the acre this year's crop is only producing about 20.

The wet, cold spring has also meant that the Caza's will not have any blueberries this year. The crop froze in the late frost meaning raspberries will be the last of their berry crops for the year. And that crop was only saved because the Caza's have an irrigation system.

ONE FOOT IN THE FURROW

By BOB TROTTER

My grandfather used to say if it doesn't rain in the oats, it will rain in the hay.

In other words, you can't win if you are a farmer. If the rain doesn't come in time for the hay, it will come in time for the grain. In mixed-crop farming, even nature has trouble balancing the rainfall.

Our part of the province went more than a month without rain. When it came, it was too late for the grain. Wheat, barley, oats and buckwheat suffered and the yield will be down between 10 and 30 per cent.

The first hay crop was tops and the moisture came just in time for the corn. As I understand it, the corn was at a critical stage. Corn does not need an abundance of rain but when it is at the stage where the blossoms are forming, rain at the right time can make the difference between a good crop and a disastrous crop.

Most of our area got rain at the right time for the corn but too late for the grain.

This points out again, though, how fickle this business of farming can be.

It was a wet spring. The corn was late being seeded on many farms, especially on fields poorly drained. Early in June, one of my neighbors, after working about 18 hours a day to get his corn planted, met me at the feed mill. He looked weary and wan.

"I got it all sown," he said. "But if prices don't improve, I won't make enough money to pay me for the seed, the fertilizer or the fuel. I'll end up working for the bank again this year."

With that characteristic movement of many farmers, he grabbed the peak of his cap, swept it off his head, mopped his brow with a tattered shirtsleeve and replaced the cap, all in one motion. There are those who would measure a farmer's efficiency by the swiftness of this motion.

The chap who can do it in one-second flat is a good manager, the pundits says.

I cannot vouch for the truthfulness of the idea but my friend would be right up there with the best of them.

He struggled to get his crops in because of the weather. A month later, he was praying for rain as he watched a field of oats struggle to survive. He got barely enough rain the last week of July to save his corn crop.

The crop was saved but, if he doesn't get a reasonable price for it, he will have worked and prayed for a meagre return.

It is, of course, another reason why farmers are different from any other sector of the economy. They not only struggle constantly with the vagaries of the market place but they are often in a pitched battle with nature as well.

No other feeling can compare with that of walking away from a full barn knowing that there is enough feed and bedding for the winter. But imagine how desolate a feeling it is to watch helplessly as the grain slowly dies in fields aching for water. Or, conversely, watching a crop rot at the roots if there is too much moisture or seeing the destruction of a once-vigorous crop flattened by wind or torn to shreds by hail.

Daniel Webster said it well more than 150 years ago: When tillage begins, other arts follow. The farmers, therefore, are the founders of human civilization.

It is about time the rest of the world appreciated agriculture.

Beauties wrap up series

The Eldorado Beauties won game two in series two and now advance to the third round against Keene.

In terrific heat from an afternoon game, the girls got off to a slow start. With two out, Linda doubled; this was followed by a double by Patti which scored Linda. Patti then stole home to score second round.

Lead-off batter Val reached on a walk and then scored to make score 2-1 at the end of first.

No runs were scored in the second or the top of the third but Warsaw scored two in the bottom of the third to go ahead 3-2. Amy reached on an error and Val walked. Both runners scored on a double to Pauline. Andrea pitched out of a bases loaded situation to retire side.

In the top of the fourth, with one out, Paula H. singled and then, with two out, Elizabeth singled to score Paula with a tying run.

In the top of the fifth, the girls' bats came alive. Lead-off batter Lori reached on an error. Susan singled, followed by a single by Andrea. Andrea scored Lori. Linda was walked to load the bases. Patti scored all three girls on a triple. Paula H. then singled this chased starting pitcher Amy. Angie pitched to Suzanne who singled. This was followed by a walk to load bases. Paula Curtis hit into a fielder's choice to force Paula H. at the plate. Lori McCann then doubled to score Suzanne. Elizabeth was thrown out at the plate while attempting to score. Susan then struck out for third out in a seven-run inning.

This was to be all the scoring for the Beauties as they were fanned in order in the sixth and seventh. In the bottom of the seventh the Warsaw girls scored two more runs to make the final score 10-5 for the Beauties. Amy led off with an error and scored on a put-out at first. Sarah reached on a fielder's choice and later scored on a single by Della.

The Beauties collected ten runs on 12 hits, two walks and had five strike-outs.

Andrea pitching for the Beauties gave up three hits, four walks and collected eight strikeouts.

Next game will be against Keene, time and date to be decided.

Havelock Bantams take one-game lead

The Havelock Bantam Boys travelled to Tweed on Wednesday, August 3, for the first game of the best-of-three ORSA Eastern Final.

Tweed got off to a bad start by giving up four runs to Havelock and committing five errors in the final inning. Havelock led 11-2 after four innings before Tweed staged a comeback against starter Sean Outindyke, Craig Smith who has a record of 9 wins, no losses and an earned run average of 2.37 came into relieve Outindyke and settled the score at 11-8 after five innings.

Havelock scored just one run in the 6th which set Tweed's momentum for a comeback to make the score a three-run game at 12-9.

Craig Smith pitched the final inning and doused out Tweed's offense to salvage a 15-11 Havelock victory.

The win makes Havelock's season record stand at 16 wins, 2 losses and one tie. Game two is in Havelock on Wednesday, August 10, at 7:30 p.m.

But in the top of the seventh, Havelock showered six hits to the outfield including a triple to left centre field by Kevin Hebor, Ken McGee scored on the triple and Hebor scored as Jim Parcels doubled.

Bantam Girls Advance to Semi-Finals

On Friday, August 5, the Norwood Bantam Girls eliminated Frankford and advanced to the semi-finals of the ORSA playdowns. On the draw for the afghan the winner was Fuby Rodway of Toronto. The girls are now waiting on winners to continue their playoffs.

Triple win for ORSA teams

In the first game of the ORSA Atom B games, round 2, Eldorado beat Tweed with a final score of 35-5 last Thursday night. Seen here is an Eldorado lad who didn't quite reach third base.

By ISABELLA SHAW

On Thursday evening, three Eldorado teams posted wins in their respective series.

The Atoms hosted Tweed in their first game of the second series and came away with a decisive 35-5 victory. Eldorado never looked back as they scored seven in the first, nine in the second, five in the third, one in the fourth and 11 in the fifth.

Scott Tracey crossed the plate for six runs; Brad Andrews, Charlie Garrow, Pat Graham and Marty Shaw had four each. With three runs each were Ian Ketcheson and Troy Trotter. Crossing the plate with two runs was Joe McCaw.

Tweed mustered little on the offensive attack and only crossed the plate for five runs; one in the second and four in the third.

Pat Graham was on the mound for the winners with three hits, no walks and eight strike-outs.

Series now switches to Tweed for second and third games if necessary.

In the second game the Peewee girls hosted the team from Warsaw and came away with a 20-3 decision.

Andrea Peters went the distance for the winners with 12 strike-outs, four walks and one hit. The only hit resulted in a solo home run in the second. Both other runs were the results of walks which scored. Warsaw pitchers combined for three strike-outs and five walks.

On the offense in the first, three runs were scored by Susan Shaw, Linda Bailey and Patti Brownson. In the secnd the girls crossed the plate for 11 runs, which included the winning run by Paula Curtis.

Susan Shaw, Andrea Peters and Paula Curtis had two runs each in second, while Linda Bailey, Patti Brownson, Suzanne Franks, Elizabeth Wood and Candy Osborne had one each.

Third and fifth innings were scoreless. With three runs in the fourth were Andrea P., Linda B. and Patti Brownson. And in the sixth Linda, Patti and Paula H. had counters.

Home runs were scored by Andrea Peters and Patti Brownson. Triples in the game went to Andrea Peters, one, and Susan Shaw, two.

In the third game of the evening, the Juniors evened their series with Douro at a game apiece by defeating them 5-1 in a game that displayed some good heads-up ball.

One of the largest crowds to ever witness ball in Eldorado cheered the locals on to victory. Randy Gray was on the mound for the winners, going the distance with three hits, seven strike-outs and only one walk and one hit batter. A scoreless tie was broken in the fifth when O'Grady walked, Devolin grounded out; Sheehan was hit by a pitch, then pinch hitter Allen hit a two-base hit to center to score O'Grady.

The Cheddars could not get much offensive attack going until the seventh when Ringlemann led off with a single, stole second, followed by a single by Brennen Devolin who drove in the tying run. Robinson walked and Kevin McCoy laid down a perfect bunt single to load the bases. With Franks at the plate, Hawthorn was called for an illegal pitch which allowed Devolin to score.

Then in the eighth to leave no doubts about who should win, the Cheddars led off with singles to Bateman and Willemson. Ringlemann then doubled to score both runners. With one out, Robinson singled to score Ringlemann.

Stirling Squirts eliminated

SHARBOT LAKE: Stirling's Home Hardware Squirts lost 16-9 here last Friday night to drop their Ontario Amateur Softball Association D playdowns in two straight games.

Stirling lost the first game 18-15. Sharbot Lake's Legion team will now advance to the All-Ontario playoff tournament to be held in Wellington.

Sharbot Lake got on the scoreboard straight off in the first inning, and it was their hitting, combined with the pitching of Dale Dowdell that kept Stirling in the back seat for the rest of the match.

The Legion boys had scored four runs by the second inning, when Stirling third baseman Mike Kiley struck for an inside-the-park homer to get the visitors on the scoreboard.

Matthew Watts got things started with a single in the fourth for Stirling, and Bill Montgomery popped one into shallow left field to let Watts score. But Sharbot Lake's airtight infield held Stirling to just two runs.

Bruce McPheat started off the fifth with a stylish grounder through the middle to get Stirling on the base paths again. But Sharbot Lake just wouldn't quit, scoring seven runs in the bottom of the sixth inning of the seven-inning game to put things more or less on ice.

A credit to both teams; both the first match in Stirling and the second at Sharbot Lake made for entertaining boys' baseball for the home crowd and those who made the long trip both ways.

Stirling wins TVLL championship

The Gibson Construction Ladies of Stirling captured the Trent Valley Ladies' League championship this past week.

After 18 regular season games Stirling beat out Madoc to capture first place.

Stirling topped the league with 15 wins, two losses and a tie, while Madoc was very close behind with 14 wins and three losses.

Following the top two teams in points were Tweed, Thurlow, Springbrook Flyers, Springbrook Selects and Sidney.

When playoffs start it will be Stirling against Tweed, and Madoc versus Thurlow. The Stirling Ladies also played well in tournaments this year. In Springbrook they lost out in the B final to Peterborough by a close 7 to 6 score.

In the Grafton tournament the locals won the C division finals over Port Hope with a 4 to 1 score. There were 20 teams in that tournament and the girls had to beat teams from Toronto, Burlington, Peterborough and Cobourg to reach the finals.

SUPI farms now have only blue and shadow foxes

By WAYNE SNIDER

It has been just over six months since SUPI farms got rid of its raccoon dogs and began raising blue and silver foxes. Already some changes have been made in the animal inventory.

SUPI doesn't keep silver foxes anymore. They had five of them but they didn't breed. Now they have blue foxes, but mostly shadow foxes. A shadow fox is a cross between a blue fox and an artic (or tundra) fox.

Raymond and Virva Helenius, who run the farm, say that the raccoon dogs were much easier to handle than the foxes.

"The raccoon dogs were nice, the foxes are vicious," Virva explains. "The fox puppies are okay but you can't pick up the adults without using the tool or they will bite you."

The device used to handle the adult foxes resembles a pair of ice tongs. It is used to pick the animal up by the scruff of its neck.

Another difference between the raccoon dog and the fox is the type of fur. The raccoon dog has long, hard hair while the fox fur is much softer.

If they had a choice, the Heleniuses would raise the raccoon dogs instead.

"We would rather have the raccoon dogs because they were a lot easier to handle," Vivra explains. "But there is no sense in thinking about that since we can't have them."

The last of the SUPI raccoon dogs were killed on Dec. 22 when they were banned by the provincial government.

Besides their temperaments, the foxes have also caused another problem for the Heleniuses.

"They didn't breed too well, we didn't get many puppies," Virva says. "But that is not too hard to understand. This is a new environment for them. The foxes are just getting used to it here. Next year the breeding should be more successful. Other than that, we haven't had any problems with the foxes."

Foxes mate once a year and the average litter contains between 10 and 18 puppies.

The animals haven't been lonely though, as Virva explains.

"At night some wild dogs come around the field," she says. "They start howling and the foxes answer back. It is like they are talking to each other."

To date they have had no problem with the dogs, other than the noise.

They enjoy taking care of the foxes.

"We see them every day, feed them and look after them, you get attached to them after a while," she says. "The only bad thing is that we have to kill them."

Originally from Helsinki, Finland, the Heleniuses like living in Madoc.

"We like it here. We have good neighbors and like the people. Every thing is going fine," Vivra says.

Virva Helenius, of SUPI farms, holds a blue fox puppy. She and her husband Raymond run the fox farm just north of Madoc.

Hazzards Corners' church

On Sunday the Annual Summer Service was held at Hazzard's Corners Church, making the church 126 years old.

The service was conducted by Rev. Hilary Scrutton from the Eldorado and Queensboro Church.

After the opening worship and prayer the hymn, O Worship the King, was sang.

After Rev. Scrutton read a passage from the New Testament, a quartette consisting of Bob McNeil, Lorne Hagerman, George Best and Don Bailey sang a few hymns. They were accompanied by Katherine Burnside Fleming on the piano.

After a second passage was read everyone joined in the singing of the hymn, Take Time to be Holy.

Next was the sermon, Three Things That Jesus Believed In, which was followed by a couple of more songs by the quartette.

A closing prayer and the hymn, O Lord of Life and Love and Power, closed the show for the afternoon.

Reverend Hilary Scrutton chats with the congregation as they leave Hazzard's Corners United Church. On Sunday the 126-year-old church held its annual summer service.

Green Party eyes area

The Green Party of Ontario, which is striving to be recognized by the government, may soon get another branch in the Tweed area.

Gary Magwood, of the Great Stoco and Moira Food Company in Tweed, has party brochures and two petitions for people to sign. The Green Party needs a total of 10,000 signatures to gain official party status.

"There probably will be a party in this area, if there is a good response," said Magwood. "I think that a lot of people in this area would be interested in the Green Party."

Some of the issues that Green Party are concerned with include: the nuclear arms race and militarism, failure to fully resolve human rights problems, the exploitation of the earth's resources and the lack of meaningful participation in the democratic process.

Along the lines of ecology, the Green Party wishes to: preserve forests and agricultural land, promote

Attendance up 10 to 15 per cent at 1983 fair

Holsteins [above] were outnumbered by Jerseys for the first time at the 1983 edition of the Stirling Fair. That's unusual in southern Hastings, where Holsteins reign, organizers say.

Beefing up the prize money in some of the Stirling Fair's agricultural contests seems to have attracted more competition this year, Agricultural Society secretary Dick Herrington indicated Sunday night.

For the first time there were more Jersey cows entered than Holsteins in a farming region known as Holstein country, Mr. Herrington said. Sixty-seven Jerseys were turned out for competition last Saturday, while 65 Holsteins, the same number as last year, were out for their contest last Friday night. Forty-eight Ayrshires were on display.

Bigger prizes in the beef cattle competitions helped attract 78 head from four breeds Sunday afternoon, there were eight light and six heavy horse teams in the horse pulls, and the light draught horse division saw several new entries, Mr. Herrington said Sunday evening.

People were out pulling rope in fair numbers and the tug-of-war attracted the second-largest crowd of all the fair's events, said Agricultural Society president Ron Reid.

But the big drawing card at the 1983 edition of the Stirling Fair was, of course, Sunday's demolition derby. Between 3,000 and 3,500

Wilcox finds human skull

BY TOM VRADENBURG

Finding a human skull in the vacant lot across the street from his house was probably the highlight of David Wilcox's summer.

The Stirling youth, who lives on Gore St., was riding through the vacant lot that once housed a lawn bowling green when he spotted some teeth and a portion of the skull (around the temple, it turned out) sticking out of the earth.

The odd thing is that there is disagreement over whether there should be human remains just where Mr. Wilcox found his skull and fragments of rotten mahogany—popular wood for coffins. The village owns the southern and eastern portions of the lot, which holds the grave of Nicholas Lake, Stirling's first reeve, and at least one other set of remains from the same period.

But St. John's Anglican Church clearly owns the portion on which Mr. Wilcox found his skull, close to the site where the bowling green shack stood not so many years ago.

Father Allan Lauder of St. John's said he is sure the church's property, which was donated by an individual years ago, has never been used as a cemetery. He checked with a provincial government official responsible for cemeteries.

Most of the graves in the village's portion of the lot, which is bordered by Gore St., Victoria St. and Edward St., were cleared out in the late 1920s when the bowling green was constructed, Father Lauder noted.

But Police Chief Jack Foster wasn't so surprised when Mr. Wilcox reported finding the skull on Tuesday. Groundhogs are known to dig up old skulls, he said, recalling an abandoned cemetery at the end of his concession road where that happened years ago. He says he's not suspecting any foul play.

Chief Foster took Mr. Wilcox's skull when he answered his call Tuesday, and the two went across the road to do a little more digging, which brought up more chips of rotten wood and a lower jawbone. Chief Foster says he plans to turn the skull over to the Hastings County Medical Officer of Health, who will decide whether it's necessary to attempt to exhume the rest of the remains (which are presumably down there somewhere) and reinter them.

Thursday afternoon I watched as Mr. Wilcox and three friends took to their shovels and expanded the hole he and Chief Foster had dug from about 18 inches long and six inches deep to dimensions of about three feet long by two feet deep. The men found more evidence of the old bowling shack: a cement cornerstone, a buried waterpipe which likely kept the bowling green watered and a telephone pole.

But they also found a few more bone fragments which no one at the site could identify. One piece appeared to be a ball joint, such as an elbow, and another piece could turn out to be a jaw fragment. After an hour or so of digging in Thursday afternoon's steady rain, Mr. Wilcox and his friends gave up, as it didn't seem much more could be found with just shovels.

people turned out at the fairgrounds to watch 21 cars take the short route to the scrap yard.

Dave DeNure of Dunkley's Auto Body in Hoard's Station took home top prize in the smash-up derby; his name is to be inscribed on the winner's trophy and Mr. DeNure took home an additional trophy for topping his heat and a total $200 in cash.

The finalists—Doug Meiklejohn of McKeown Motor Sales in Springbrook, Larry Morton of Morton Masonry in Springbrook, Wayne Breou of Riverside Chees in Trenton, Tim Smith of Rusty Service Centre, RR 4 Belleville and Mark Couturier of Downsview, Ont.—all took home trophies and $50 cheque.

Organizers said attendance Saturday and Sunday were up 10 to 15 per cent over the same days at last year's fair. At press time Sunday's attendance figures had not been calculated.

Once the midway is back on the road, the livestock are back in their barns and the grounds are cleaned up, Stirling's fair organizers will take a month off—before they begin work on next year's edition.

Beauties win first game of Keene series

The Eldorado Beauties won their first game in their third round in their quest for an All Ontario Championship on Friday evening. Score of the game was 9-3. The Beauties appeared in charge all evening as they jumped into a 2-0 lead which they never relinquished.

Keene was retired with only one player reaching base. Eldorado's lead-off batter Susan struck out, Andrea reached on an error, stole second, advanced to third on Linda's strike out. Andrea scored on a double to Patti. Patti advanced to third on an illegal pitch call and then stole home. Paula H. singled and Suzanne popped out to the pitcher to finish the first inning.

In the second inning, lead-off batter for Keene, Julie, walked, but she never advanced past second as the next three batters fanned in order. The Beauties were also retired in order.

In the third inning, Keene's Shauna Campbell and Giselle Hatton struck out and then, with walks to Tessie and Kathy, set the stage for a triple by Jackie who collected her first of the only two hits in the game. She tripled to score both runners. Julie MacDonald then struck out. This tied the game at two. In the bottom of third, Susan led off with a walk, stole second and third and was sacrificed home by Andrea. Lynda hit a sharp line drive which was fielded by the pitcher, for the second out. This was when the Beauties' bats went to work. Patti tripled and scored on a single to Paula H. Suzanne singled to advance Paula to third. Paula scored on an illegal pitch call. Candy received a walk and then was forced out on a fielder's choice to Paula C.

Keene was scoreless in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings. Eldorado, however, added three more in the fourth, when with one out Susan walked and scored on a triple to Andrea. Andrea scored on a sacrifice out to Linda. This was followed by a home run to Patti Brownson. Paula H. then flew out to centre. No runs were collected in the field although Suzanne and Candy both singled.

In the sixth, Susan again led off with a free pass. After advancing to third on passed balls, she was sacrificed home by Andrea. Lori struck out, followed by a walk to Patti and a strike out to Paula H. to finish scoring for the Beauties.

In the top of the seventh, Shauna Campbell led off with a walk, followed by two strikeouts. Shauna scored on an error which allowed Kathy to reach base. This was followed by a strikeout to Jackie.

Line score for the game: Kathy Todd for Keene 9 hits, 5 walks and eight strikeouts; for Andrea, 2 hits, 5 walks and eighteen strikeouts.

Patti had a perfect night at the plate going three for three and scoring three runs. Paula H. and Suzanne had two hits each and Candy and Andrea had single hits.

Keene's two hits were to their catcher Jackie Will.

Next game in Keene at 6:30 on Tuesday, August 16. Third game, if necessary, on Thursday, August 18, at 6:30. Come out, support the Beauties in their quest for an Ontario Championship.

Atoms advance to semi-finals

The Eldorado Atoms took another step up the ladder to the All Ontario Championship when they defeated Tweed in the second game Tuesday night to win the series.

It was Eldorado's game all the way as they crossed the plate for nine runs in the first and added one more in the second. Craig G. scored for Tweed in the bottom of the second to make the score 10-2 at the end of two. That was to end the scoring for Tweed, but Eldorado never looked back scoring 12 more runs in the third, six in the fourth and 10 in the fifth. They had crossed the plate for 14 runs in the sixth before the game was called for darkness. Score at the time was 52-2. A total team effort both on the bat and on the defense.

Pat was on the mound giving up 5 hits, 2 walks and 10 strikeouts. This win won the series for Eldorado and put them into the semi-finals against Norwich. The series is to start in Norwich on Wednesday, Aug. 17, at 5 p.m. Return game tentatively set for Sat., Aug. 20, in Eldorado after the Peewee Girls' tournament.

The Atoms finished their regular schedule on Monday night with a 10-4 victory over Madoc to finish first in a 24 game schedule with only four losses and one tie.

Junior Cheddars elimenated

The Eldorado Cheddars lost the third game of their ORSA playdowns on Sunday night to Douro. Score of the game was 4-2. Eldorado went into an early two run lead when Doug reached on an error and then, with two out, Bill hit a home run to score Doug. That was to be all of their scoring as in the remaining eight innings they had only four runners on base.

Douro battery combined for fourteen strikeouts, no walks and four hits. Douro was held scoreless until the top of the fourth, when Tim Sheehan walked and then was sacrificed home by Tom O'Grady. They tied the score in the top of the fifth when Roger Maloney doubled, advanced on an error to Dave Devlin and then scored on a sacrifice fly to Shaun Devlin.

In the seventh, Douro added another when again Roger reached base, this time on an error, and with two out scored when another error allowed Shaun Devlin to reach base.

In the ninth, they added another run when with one out Roger again reached on an error and scored on a sacrifice fly to Dave Devlin. Final score 4-2 for Douro.

Gray on the mound for the Cheddars gave up seven hits, one walk and had only one strikeout.

This finishes their year as far as the ORSA playdowns are concerned but they are just beginning their league playoffs in the Stirling and District League. Their opposition in this will be Madoc Minutemen. Games on Tuesday, August 16, in Madoc and on Thursday, Aug. 18, in Eldorado at 8:30 p.m.

Squirts loose

Playing in Springbrook, Tues., Aug. 9, the Madoc Squirts were not able to match Springbrook's onslaught and suffered a 21-11 lashing.

Springbrook had only a 5-4 edge after three full innings of play, but ran across 16 runs in innings four, five and six and easily held on for the win.

Paul McMaster, Barclay Sexsmith and Robyn Plumbe shared the mound duties for Madoc, allowing 14 hits, walking nine and striking out only one.

For Springbrook, Steve Hutchings and Tom Lee did the pitching, giving up 13 hits, 11 walks and five strikeouts at the plate.

Madoc's hot bat belonged to Pat Bailey with a sizzling four for four (three singles and a home run) at the plate, driving in four runs and upping his batting average from .343 to .410.

Jim Bonter, Troy Bertrand and Farley Tokley each went two for four at

Kiss an old flame goodbye.

We'd like you to take a minute now to think about something you'd really rather not think about. Home heating. Because right now is the perfect time to do something about next winter's oil bills.

If your oil furnace is in good condition, but you'd like it to run more economically, electricity is the answer. A dual-energy system combining oil and electricity will heat your home efficiently and economically.

For example, adding an electric plenum heater to your oil furnace will reduce the amount of oil you use by up to 75 per cent. While adding a heat pump will not only cut heating bills by 20 to 30 per cent, but also provide air conditioning in the summer, for efficient year-round comfort.

If your furnace does need replacing, an electric furnace or one of the other electric systems can heat your home cleanly, efficiently and economically.

Like to know more? Take a minute now and write to Ontario Hydro, Room U7 E1, 700 University Avenue, Toronto M5G 1X6 and ask for our free booklet "Electric Heating Options for Your Home."

Because the minute you take now could add up to big savings come December.

Busy summer for Big Brothers, Big Sisters

The Big Brothers and Big Sisters of Centre Hastings have been busy so far this summer and it looks like they still have a lot of work ahead of them.

On May 2 five students were hired as a part of a Summer Student Employment Program and will work until Aug. 26. The students are: Karen Whiteman, Scott Simpson, Kate Pigden, Janice Brinson and Patty Dunford.

On the weekend of July 8-10, a camping weekend was held at Greenwood Park. A total of four Big Brother, Big Sister agencies attended including Kingston, Ottawa, Oshawa and Centre Hastings. There were 30 campers from Madoc.

July 17 saw a bus trip to Canada's Wonderland to raise money. The agency raised $500 as 50 people rode the 47 seat bus.

Seven kids went to see BB Craft in Belleville on July 20. They were shown the factory where canoes and other fibreglass products are made and got a chance to make some crafts out of fibreglass.

On July 27 three volunteers and eight kids had a trip to the Peterborough Zoo. They also enjoyed a side trip to the liftlocks.

In July and August seven children sponsored by the agency participated in the Tweed swimming program. Progress is being made as they have already earned their first level badges.

A cookout was held at O'Hara's Mill on Aug. 5 which was attended by 15 kids. They enjoyed a tour of the mill, playing baseball and a barbecue.

Recently, a quilting bee was held at the Madoc Roman Catholic Church Hall on Aug. 10, 11 and 12. The quilts made will be part of a draw used to raise money for the organization. # The Cuties are coming to Springbrook

The zaniest, craziest group of softballers ever to take the field will soon visit Springbrook.

The California Cuties, with their six-man format, will take the field against the Springbrook Selects Midget girls' team at the Springbrook ball park Thurs., Aug. 25, at 8 p.m.

The Cuties, who come attired in the wildest ladies' clothing imaginable, are in truth some of the finest athletes on the west coast.

Their ace pitcher, however, hails from Toronto and goes by the name of Wilma the Whip. Other stalwarts of the club include Main Street Sally at shortstop, Hefty Helen at first base, Hedda Hooker and Patricia the Moocher in the outfield, and veteran Chili Pepper behind the plate. Chili belted 52 homers last season, while Hefty Helen, who also takes a turn on the mound when needed, is the club's leading hitter.

Founded in 1946 by owner Trinto Palacios, the Cuties have entertained fans all over North America and have travelled overseas on behalf of the U.S. state department.

Advance tickets for the match are available from Helen Reid at 395-3665, or from any Selects player. Organizers say there will be a prize drawn on advance tickets.

Legion Notes —Branch 228

The fair is over and once again the ladies ran the bingo and made a great success of it. They do get considerable support from the men and they appreciate that, but it is the ladies that do the planning and much of the work.

Our branch has no Ladies' Auxiliary like most branches do, and we always have that pointed out to us at zone meetings, but we always feel that our ladies do their share and do it well. This "bingo at the fair" is just one of the places where this fact stands out. Thank you girls.

Now we have to shift into second gear for the activities planned for this week. This will be the biggest birthday party the village has had since the centennial twenty-five years ago. It was a dandy.

There are events planned for every day. There are lots of VIPs coming to town and there are many, many visitors who are very important people to us all.

Come along and for sure you'll see someone you haven't seen in years.

Check the anniversary calendar for what is going on and take in as many events as you can. Our big drumhead service is on Sunday. We hope to see everyone there.

T.T.F.N.

Dave DeNure of Dunkley's Auto Body in Hoard's Station took home the first prize trophy, a finalist's trophy, and $200 in cash after winning the Stirling Fair's seventh demolition derby at the Stirling fairgrounds Sunday night.

Stirling seniors' euchre

Ada Bush was chairlady last week, and there was no pianist. What a lovely day to be out. We were short of players with only six tables, but we sure had a lovely lunch, served up by George and Evelyn Carlisle and Luella Carson.

A lot of players don't like to see their name mentioned in association with that smelly, black and white animal. But last week they were Pearl Conley and Rita Floud.

Ladies' high scorer was Evelyn Carlisle, and ladies' low was Martha Wood.

Men's high was Myrtle Tanner, and men's low was Rita Floud.

There will be no euchre this week on Aug. 18, because of the anniversary celebrations.

Visiting a sick truck driver at the hospital, Bill remarked, "boy, you sure got a pretty nurse." "Gosh, I hadn't noticed," his patient friend replied.

"You really are sick," said Bill.

Editorial

BY WAYNE SNIDER

Imagine that when you are born you are taken away from your mother and shoved into a cage, similar to the one she is kept in, where you have enough room to pace back and forth all day. If you are lucky, you have one or two other children to pace with you while you are still young.

When you are older you have your own cage, where you pace by yourself all day.

You eat food pellets, that smell revolting, every day and wash them down with water. You can remember that when you were young that you were fed a mash that was made from the same pellets.

For what seems like an eternity you pace up and down your prison every day while periodically a man comes and feeds you.

If you are a male, you are suddenly stuck in a cage with a female (that you have never seen before) and you mate.

If you are a female, after you have given birth to your children they are taken away from you. You never see them again.

Then one day the man that has so dutifully fed you day after day, comes and takes you out of your cage.

You wonder where is my friend, the man who brings me food, taking me?

You are taken inside of a building and killed.

Does it sound like fun? Personally I can't think of a better life style.

That is the way of life for countless animals each year who end up being a portion of someone's coat, stole or shoes.

If I were a mink, I know that I would be pleased to know that I have sacrificed my life so some rich lady could stuff me into a closet filled with other members of the animal kingdom, and be taken out occasionally to have some drunken old coot spill half of a martini on my fur.

When a maritimer clubs a baby seal there is a public outcry. If a Japanese fisherman harpoons a whale the news is heard throughout North America. When the Nazis made lampshades out of the Jews the world shook.

Who grieves for the fox or the mink?

Don't all animals have the right to live just as peacefully(?) as man does?

If nothing else, it is something to think about the next time you put on your snakeskin suit, alligator boots or fox coat, or possibly as an excuse not to buy the wife the fur she has been nagging for.

We have examined the balance sheet of the Corporation of the Township of Tudor & Cashel as at December 31, 1982 and the statements of revenue and expenditure and reserve and reserve funds continuity for the year then ended. River Atomic Energy plant in Ontario in 1955 and 1958, and the observation of nuclear test blasts at Nevada in 1955 and 1957, and in Australia in 1956 and 1957.

A study, commissioned by the Minister, is being carried out by the university's Department of Epidemiology and Community Medicine to investigate the mortality rate among those exposed during clean-up operations at the Chalk Anyone directly involved, or who is aware of a friend or relative who was involved, in any of the operations is asked to write in confidence to: Dr. S. Raman, Department of Epidemiology and Community Medicine, University of Ottawa, 451 Smyth Road, Ottawa, Ontario, K1H 8M5.

'You're going to like Brian Mulroney,' Hees tells faithful

faithful last Thursday night at the Harold Community Hall.

"You're going to like (Brian) Mulroney," said Mr. Hees of the new Tory leader, whom Mr. Hees backed during the June leadership convention. He described Mr. Mulroney as a talented, bright man who understands business and the economy.

"He is a very, very extraordinary and exciting person. I'm not saying that just because I backed him, I'm saying that because it's a fact and you're going to learn that more and more as we go along," he told the Rawdon Progressive Conservative Association.

Mr. Hees repeated some of Mr. Mulroney's platform, including introducing tax breaks for companies engaging in research and development and attracting foreign capital into Canada.

"In Canada labor and management are at each other's throats," and Mr. Mulroney is proposing a more co-operative, harmonious industrial relations system, he said.

"He knows that we have got in indulge in a great deal more research and development here in Canada to improve our production methods, cut our costs, get our selling prices down, improve our quality, improve our design."

Mr. Hees was careful not to offend Joe Clark supporters in the audience of about 35 people. He maintained that when the Toronto Star quoted him as saying, "We've got the son of a bitch" at the leadership convention he was referring to Mr. Mulroney's victory and not Mr. Clark. "I was not down on Joe Clark at the last convention," Mr. Hees said in response to a question from Carman Fitchett of Stirling.

He told Mr. Fitchett not to believe what he read in the papers. "I like Joe Clark. I get along with Joe Clark. I get along just as well now with Joe Clark as I always have," Mr. Hees said.

In response to a farmer's question on metrication, Mr. Hees said he wants to see a voluntary metric law, instead of the mandatory one now in effect, and that his idea has some support in the Tory caucus. Only 15 per cent of Canadian exported goods are sold to metric countries, he said.

DAVIS WAS DULL AS DISHWATER

When Mr. Pollock's boss was first elected premier of Ontario, Mr. Hees said he thought William Davis was "dull as dishwater", but the Premier has improved his speaking style since then, Mr. Hees said.

Mr. Pollack remarked on his party's 40th anniversary at the helm in the Ontario Legislature. Some may think it's time for a change, but "I don't think it's time for a change. I think it's time for a vote of confidence," he told the party faithful.

But he said he disagrees with Mr. Davis's proposal, which is not yet legislation, to provide French-language schools for Ontario students on demand. "I believe in the old mandate we had for French where numbers warrant. I admire anybody that can speak two languages and I wish I could myself. But I think we have to be realistic and we can't burden the taxpayers with too much taxes," Mr. Pollock said.

He also spoke out in support of extra billing by doctors. "The federal government is trying to tell us that we've got to bring the doctors into line, and not let them opt out of OHIP, and I know that doctors aren't starving to death—they're making a reasonably good living. But on the other hand if we try to force these doctors to go with our medicare plan and not allow them to opt out, they might pack their bags and go to the States," Mr. Pollock said.

Most of the doctors opting out are specialists while most attending physicians in hospital emergency wards are within OHIP, he said.

Last Thursday's meeting, the first in Rawdon since August 1981, saw the reinstatement of the executive by acclamation. Marvin Cooney is once again president of the Rawdon Progressive Conservation Association, Lindsay Sills is first vice-president, Bob Merrick is second vice-president and Jack Spencer is secretary-treasurer.

32 walkers raised $2,500 for disabled

About $2,500 was raised at last weekend's March of Dimes walkathon between Annie's Country Inn and Island Park Campground, organizers say.

About 32 walkers, including several who ran the six-mile course, set out early Sunday morning, Aug. 8, to raise funds to help send disabled adults to camp. The marathon, the first in this area for the charity group, is one of several local March of Dimes events which will raise about $4,000 by the end of the summer. Pat Cashin of Island Park says that's an improvement over the $2,100 raised for the March of Dimes last year. It costs about $375 a week to send a disabled person to camp, she says.

Her mother, Doris Wells of Bournemouth, England, was the event's oldest walker at 70. Seven-year-old Charlene Woodcock of Campbellford was the youngest walker. And Henry McGeachy of Stirling completed the course two years after undergoing open-heart surgery.

Dick Fry of Thurlow was the top money-raiser. Backed by the Becker Milk Co., he raised $560.

A film crew shooting a camping documentary was on hand to record the event at the Island Park camp and at the mid-way checkpoint, at Visser's Poultry Farm, Mrs. Cashin says.

Most finished the course before noon to beat the mid-day heat, except one walker who went both ways, from Island Park to Annie's and back, she says.

"We are going to go again next year," Mrs. Cashin says, hopefully with some more corporate backing.

Queensboro WI

Mrs. Ken Cassidy was hostess for the August meeting of the Queensboro Branch of the Women's Institute which was held in the WI Hall on Wednesday evening, Aug. 10.

The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Cassidy, with the singing of O'Canada, the Ode and Mary Stewart Collect.

The roll call, "What are your retirement plans?" was answered by 14 members. There were three visitors.

There was a short business discussion. Letters were read. It was decided to collect for the CNIB again this year. An invitation from Marmora to attend their Sept. meeting was read. There was a discussion regarding the next 4-H homemaking club. Nothing was decided.

Mrs. Harry Declair, Citizenship and World Affairs Convener, was in charge of the program. She began with a tribute to Adelaide Hoodless who started the WI which is now world wide.

Mrs. A. Sutton read the motto, "There is nothing wrong with change providing it is in the right direction."

Mrs. Declair then asked each member to tell some change that had taken place for the better during their lifetime. She then read a selection on the lives of our foreign missionaries and some of the customs of the countries they are working in.

Each member gave a current event and the meeting closed with The Queen and lunch was served by the hostess and a social time was enjoyed by all.

Madoc and Tweed. Edna Richardson and Anne Callery of Marmora made a quilt over the winter and donated it to the agency, and another outstanding donation was made by Nancy Meed of Tweed, who painted several blocks.

Last year 1,200 tickets were printed up on the quilt draw and they were all sold. This year it is hoped that all 2,000 tickets that were printed sell.

There are also many more activities for Big Brothers, Big Sisters this year (see calendar of events).

The Centre Hastings agency has a caseload of 30 children and requires several big brothers - five in Marmora, one in Madoc and 10 in Tweed.

This year, aside from money raising activities, Centre Hastings received $4,600 from the Trillium Foundation and $7,000 from the Canada Community Service Project (CCSP).

The drought of 1983

Every cloud has a silver lining

This year's extremely hot, dry weather during the month of July has caused problems with the farmers in the areas served by Cembal Publications but, as some optimist once said, "Every cloud has a silver lining." That statement seems to be holding true.

For those at work during the hot weather, conditions were nearly unbearable. Many people expressed concern about how the weather must be affecting the senior citizens. But, if you were one of the lucky ones who were on vacation during that time, conditions probably couldn't have been better as long as you didn't have to travel too far with young children.

If you had a favorite camping spot near water, you probably couldn't have cared less how hot it got. "One camper told Cembal Publications recently, "I worked through those three hot weeks in July and that was hell. But now I'm on holidays and I don't care if it gets up to 100 degrees in the shade. I'll have my feet in the water and a cold drink in my hand. What more could I ask for?"

Grocery stores, souvenir shops and campgrounds have been booming businesses this summer although they report some abnormal habits among this year's tourists. Below is a summary of the survey done by Cembal Publications

Havelock and Norwood

The recent long, hot, dry spell may have had adverse effects on the gardens and field crops around Havelock, and it overworked the town's water system to the point of near-exhaustion, but the lack of cloud had a golden lining for business and the village and neighboring resort areas.

The traffic along Highway 7 is up dramatically from last summer and business establishments are prospering from the influx of tourists. The picnic tables along the highway which were set up by the town to encourage travellers to stop and perhaps spend a dollar have been occupied most days throughout the season and at times cars have been seen cruising vainly in search of a spot to eat.

All of Havelock's 12 eating places have been kept busy catering to the steady stream of visitors. Frank Sam of Havelock Garden Restaurant who last winter complained of the lack of business now is sagging with exhaustion trying to keep up with more business than he can easily handle.

The service stations are pumping a steady stream of gas and Jack Blakely of J and L Gulf reports a boom in new car sales as well as a

Lakefield

That hot, dry June and July may not have done much for farmers but it's left area tourist operators raving.

Business at the Lakefield park, which has about 33 camping sites available for transient campers, has been good all summer running at about 60 per cent occupancy. The beach has been drawing big crowds as people slip over for a dip at the Beach. According to manager Alan Seabrooke a lot of people have been dropping by between six and seven in the evening after work to cool off. After last summer's disappointing weather Seabrooke figures the park has probably doubled attendance figures. In his report to the Board of Park Management last week he claims for the months of June and July that 11,800 people visited the park. Given that up until this year there has been almost no advertising of the park, Seabrooke says the park is doing very well. He says that from what he has seen and read in province travelling is up, partly because of Dave Bradly of KOA Happy Lands campground reports that business could have been up as high as 25-30 per cent this summer if gas prices had remained lower and the economy had been better.

"As it is, our whole business is up. Overnight campers are up 8-10 per cent," Bradly said, adding that seasonal campers were up as well. "KOA is used to doing overnight business," he said, "but this year more and more people are pulling in and staying for three and four nights at a time. People don't seem to be travelling

Carl and Pat Cashin of Island Park Campground between Stirling and Campbellford aren't complaining about the drought either.

"It's been the best thing that's ever happened. I hate to say that, considering the problems it causes everybody else," says Carl.

Hot, dry, sunny weather may have put a damper on farming but for the merchants in Hastings it was a boon they have been looking for. They point out that the economy is still bad despite the latest pronouncements from government but also concede they are doing "great".

Pat L'Estrange of Sheila's Restaurant reports that he has no complaints this summer. Despite a very slow spring, worse on some weekends than last year, the business he operates with his wife is up over last

Carl and Pat Cashin have owned the Island Park Campground for eight of the 15 years it has been in business. While neighboring farms have had problems, the Cashins say the sunny weather is doing their enterprise no end of good.

as much and the weather may account for that."

Montgomery's grocery store in Marmora reports a good summer, but they have noticed that they are busiest from early in the morning until about 1 p.m. "Business really tapers off after 1 p.m. on most days and that's been a trend we've noticed all summer long. It's been a great summer for steaks, pop and ice, too."

Ron Whiteman of Whiteman's ESSO Service reports gas sales have remained about equal to last year despite higher gas prices. He has noticed more Canadians on the road this year and less Americans. At the ice cream counter, they are employing two girls steadily this year, while last year only one girl was employed with occasional help from another.

the economy and the ever-increasing cost of gasoline.

According to Ed Thornton owner of the Shining Waters situated beside the canal, business this summer got off to a slow start in June but picked up dramatically in July as the weather turned hot and dry. He says there are a lot of Americans using the waterway this year.

Doug Stewart, local manager for the Trent-Severn, confirms what everyone else notices. So far this year there has been a six per cent increase in traffic through the system.

Stewart says that there are always a lot of Americans on the water during the summer and this year is no exception but he has noticed one difference: more small boats, meaning that a lot of Canadians are using the waterway. Figures for the year show that 151,584 vessels have used the system. During June and July 56,500 boats went through Lakefield.

While the Otonabee Region Conservation Authority has no way of compiling day use figures, people making reservations for camping in the Authority's various recreation spots are up by ten per cent this year.

According to Velma Fawcett of the Buckhorn Tourist Association this has been a good year in the area. She credits the good weather and advertising for the increase this year.

One of the differences she has noticed this year is that there are more families coming into the area. Usually the area attracts a lot of fishermen but this year more families are coming. She also reports that over the past three weeks every tourist spot in the area has been booked solid.

ity on the Trent near Hoard's Station.

About half of the campers who use the facility come from within 30 miles, and the other half come from Toronto and Oshawa, Cashin says. About 100, or two-thirds of his customers set their trailers up in late May and stay at them or visit on the weekends until the park closes up Thanksgiving weekend.

year already. "It has been just a great season. We are up and have no complaints," he told us.

Down the street at the Village Square Department Store, formerly the Hastings 5 to a Dollar; Val Scudds also reports a good summer. "We are out of bathing suits and most of the rest of our summer stock has been sold."

Sue Jo's Crafts and Wool store is having an immeasurably better summer this year than last. However, last year the Ministry of Transport decided to tear up the road in front of her business and leave it that way for several weeks. Not surprisingly she told us, "business is great this season."

In fact the only laments we heard during our survey were complaints about the lack of supply of many summer items like fans and clothing. Businesses are forced to order well in advance of the season and apparently some of them just didn't have flexibility in ordering to allow them to take advantage of the great demand for hot weather items. On the whole, though, the Hastings area is doing well in the drought.

But one business has suffered in the heat. Vera Dodd, who operates Dodd's Bowling Lanes, told us that business hasn't been that great in June and July but she added, "When it's 90 I don't exactly feel like bowling either."

capacity demand for his rental cars.

The marinas and resorts on the lakes have reported an especially big increase in trade as hot weather brings people from the city.

Sales of gifts and handicraft, which last year sank to a dismal low as the few tourists pinched their pennies, is up dramatically and there is also a steady flow of visitors inquiring of the real estate agents about village and lakefront property.

Hot weather has done nothing but good for the Havelock business person.

ONE FOOT IN THE FURROW

by Bob Trotter

The trend is obvious. It is there for the whole nation to see: Farmers are not reaping any benefits from the slight improvement in the economy.

Benefits, in fact, have decreased. It is necessary to cite a few statistics for proof.

The federation of agriculture and the cattlemen's association have been keeping track of the trends among the five major supermarket chains competing in the province. The figures prove that farmers reap less and less of every food dollar spent in the supermarkets.

For instance, beef prices to farmers went down a cent a pound in July. In the supermarkets, the average increase was 21 cents a pound. Buyers paid less for the beef but got more for it from the consumer. Who took the loss? The beef farmers.

The same thing is true for hogs. Farmers got two cents a pound less in July. Consumers paid an average of seven cents a pound more for pork. The buyers paid less and sold for more.

Yes, yes, I know. That is the way profits are made in this country: buy for less and sell for more. But the primary producer, in this case, is the backbone of the industry and he gets it in the ear.

How many of the supermarket chains went bankrupt this year compared to the number of farmers who were forced into it?

Just check the top 20 businesses in Canada as listed in Canadian Business magazine. Three of the five major supermarket chains were considered the best investment in the country. Loblaws had a 14.2 per cent return on equity. Provigo had a whopping 15.8 per cent return. Steinberg—Miracle Mart—had a 10.5 per cent return. Oshawa Group which controls Towers and the Dutch Boy-Dutch Girl outlets had a return on equity of 15.2 per cent.

But listen to these people when they are appearing before Royal commissions. They cry the blues and sing songs of woe. They constantly preach they are getting a net profit of less than six per cent while all the time gaining a bigger percentage of the food market dollars.

Only five major food buying groups exist in Canada and the clout those groups have in the food chain is awe-inspiring.

No evidence exists to prove that this clout is being used to manipulate prices to the exclusive benefit of a few. But that power is there. If there is competition, it is very narrow indeed.

The aim of big business is to make a profit and use that profit to grow bigger and bigger while satisfying shareholders. With bigness comes power and power begets power.

And so the farmer's share of every food dollar spent continues to get smaller.

Four years ago, farmers got 60 cents of every dollar spent for food. Three years ago, farmers got 54 cents of every dollar.

What was it this July? Why, it had dwindled to 49 cents. The rest of the dollar went to the middlemen and the retailers and the truckers and the packagers and the processors. It was spread around to many people but when you go through the list of companies owned by the giants in the food chain, you will find that most of those chains, through other corporate interests, got a chunk all the way along the line.

And who was left sweating in the back 40?

You win the fur-lined bedpan: the farmer.

34th Hubble re-union

The 34th Hubble Annual Reunion and Picnic was held at Zwick's Island, Belleville, on July 24, 1983, with a small attendance.

Mr. Ken Fairman, president, conducted the business meeting. Eileen Demorest, secretary treasurer, read the minutes of the previous reunion and gave the financial statement.

It was decided to discontinue the picnic at Belleville and the members will attend the Heritage Day Hubble Reunion at Havelock Arena on August 21, 1983.

It was moved that after all bills were paid, the balance of money in the bank be transferred to the Hubble Hill Cemetery Fund for the upkeep of the Pioneer Cemetery. The prizes were given out as follows: oldest lady, Mrs. Mabel Hubble; oldest man, Harold Johnston; youngest child, Patty Hubble; largest family, Gordon Hubble.

Members were in attendance from Norwood, Frankford, Stirling, Campbellford and Marmora.

Havelock advances

On Wed., Aug. 10, the Havelock Bantam Boys hosted Tweed for the second game of the best of three ORSA series.

Tweed got on the scorecard first by hitting three consecutive singles off Havelock starter, Craig Smith.

In the third inning Havelock turned on its offensive power by scoring seven runs which highlighted Craig Smith and Jim Parcels hitting back to back home runs. Craig Smith, Ken McGee, Jim Parcels and Kevin Hebor each went three for four with Jeff Stewart getting four RBIs. The final score was 13-2 for Havelock which now gives them a bye into the Ontario semi-finals against either Bright, Baden, Puslirch, Favistock or Hillsburgh. The bye is a 12 day break and the next game date has not been set.

We cannot bring the good times back,
Your hands we cannot touch.
But we still have sweet memories.
Of the one we loved so much.
What we would give to hold your hand,
Your happy face to see.
To hear your voice & see your smile,
That meant so much to us.
What you suffered you told, but few.
You didn't deserve what you went through.
Tired & weary you made no fuss,
And tried so hard to stay with us.
You say that memories are golden,
And well I guess that is true.
But we never wanted memories,
We only wanted you.
Sadly missed & often thought of, Mom & Dad. -11

126 outboards stolen in district

The community services officer of the Ontario Provincial Police, Madoc Detatchment, sent a report to the Moira Cottagers For Clean Water annual meeting held last Saturday stating that 126 outboard motors had been stolen last year in this district.

Some of the measures he suggested to keep these thefts down in the next year was to remove and store the motors seperately, chain the boat and use a locking bar, mark the motor for identification and keep the serial number on their person. He also encouraged boat owners to take a photograph of the boat and motor to help with identification should it be necessary. Another recommendation was for cottage owners to ask neighbors to watch over each other's property when away to help detect tress-passers.

Included in the report was a new 1985 regulation that says any craft 5.5 metres or longer must have a sound signaling device like an air horn, bell, etc. He also stressed that water skiing with one person in the boat is a criminal offense.

REDUCED HYDRO RATES

Association President Phyllis Berry reported that the Federation of Ontario Cottagers Association (covering 300,000 cottage properties in Ont.) wrote a letter urging local cottagers to write their provincial member of parliament asking for reduced hydro rates because they feel it is discriminatory to charge owners using cottages part of the year higher rates. The letter also mentioned that the Ontario Federation is a recognized lobby group.

WEED PROBLEM

The Ministry of Natural Resources sent a pamphlet to the Association suggesting Reglone A be used in moderation to fight the over-growth of weeds in Moira Lake. The ministry says nutrient overloading is causing the overgrowth, but if lake front owners kill too many of the weeds, fish and birds will suffer.

A "peaceful sharing" is recommended, said President Berry.

BUOYS

President Berry said there have been 10 new buoys placed in the east end of Moira Lake this year, with five others being placed in the upper regions of the lake, five in the lower, five at Conneley's Cove, two in Ross's Bar, two in Twin Pine Cove. The new buoys have been constructed at little cost, out of heavy plastic containers painted orange. Berry said the expense for the 10 new buoys was $112.65 and it will cost an additional $32.68 for five more buoys to be placed next year.

Cottage owners were asked to report areas where they felt the new buoys should be placed.

NEW EXECUTIVE

Former Secretary Tom Ross and Treasurer Harold Bailey asked to be relieved of their positions a year early, therefore, Lenn Jewell was nominated to serve one year as secretary and Sandra McNevon was nominated as treasurer of the local association. President Berry has one year remaining in a two year term.

SEASONAL DAM

Jim keleher of the Moira River Conservation Authority (MRCA) addressed the 55 cottagers present at the meeting, saying the seasonal dam at Downey's Rapids has been managed slightly different this year.

"Rather than put the dam in on a set schedule, the authority is monitoring it three times a week and when the level reaches a certain point, we start to instal the dam. Our objective is to keep the water levels stable, and we will take the same approach this fall," said Keleher.

Keleher went on to say that the authority is now preparing one in a 100 years flood plain mapping and will soon be available for purchase by lake-front resi-

Beauties advance to semi-finals

The Eldorado Beauties advanced to semi-final action when they defeated Keene 12-1. It took three games in four nights to get the series but they emerged the eventual winners.

Travelling to Keene on Tuesday night the girls lost a tense 3-2 decision to the host team.

Grocery tape selling given green light

A U.S. company was given approval August 17 to resume its grocery tape purchase plan in Ontario providing it follows guidelines set down by the provincial government.

The plan, operated by United Financial Incentives Inc. (UFI) of North Wales, Penn., was brought to a halt in Ontario in June by the provincial Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations. The ministry issued a cease-and-desist order prohibiting UFI from soliciting any more business in Ontario because it felt the company was misrepresenting some aspects of its plan. The order also cited UFI President William Newbauer.

People joining the UFI plan are entitled to submit up to $500 worth of grocery sales receipts a month in exchange for a one per cent return on the value of the receipts. They can also join a second membership category entitling them to an additional one per cent rebate on receipts submitted by new members they recruit, and by new members recruited by this new chain, and so on.

The plan spread across the border into Ontario last winter and reached Madoc in the spring.

UFI appealed the cease-and-desist order, and as a result of a July 29 Appeal Tribunal, the ministry issued a new order setting down specific areas where it felt UFI should make changes.

David Mitchell, director of the investigation and enforcement branch of the ministry says, "Newbauer's got a cute little scheme where he's getting information for market research. As long as people go into it with their eyes open, we don't have a lot of concern over it."

Mitchell says the main directive of the order is to get UFI to remove "flowery" words from its written materials. The kits being mailed to potential members must now have such phrases as "get rich" and "financial independence" deleted. UFI must also tell potential enrolers that the personal information they put on application forms may be used by the company.

"This pure demographic information on spending habits, etc., that UFI gets on the application forms is very salable to manufacturers," says Mitchell. "He (Newbauer) must tell people what he is going to do with this demographic information."

The recent order also tells the company to give members a 10-day period of grace after joining in which to cancel their enrolment, and stop distribution of buttons or other material with a reference of "Ask me how to get your groceries free".

Mitchell says UFI must change the kits and submit them to the ministry for approval by September 1.

Belleville man drowns in Moira Lake

John James McConnell, 31, of 228 Front St., Belleville, was found dead in seven feet of water, 45 feet off the shore of Moira Lake at 10:07 a.m. on August 19. Ontario Provincial Police divers found the body after searching for approximately 12 hours.

On the evening of August 17, Ronald Masters of RR 2, Madoc, and Fred Masters were fishing on the west side of Moira Lake near the mouth of Moira River when they heard the shouting of Scott William Reid, 31, of 207 North Park St., Belleville, and Wayne Elmer Woods, 37, of 118 Herchimer Ave., Belleville. Ronald Masters says they found the two men holding onto the hull of an overturned 12-foot aluminum boat, and pulled them into their homemade boat.

The two rescued men explained that Mr. McConnell had stood up in the boat and tipped it while they were fishing. With the two survivors clinging to the upset craft, McConnel panicked and swam for shore, which was about 50 feet away. That was the last they saw of the man.

The Madoc OPP were called to the scene at 10:22 p.m. that night, but the body was not found.

"It was a three-seater boat, but it seemed small," says Masters. "It's funny that it started to sink, because it was supposed to have poly-foam under the seats for floatation."

Masters adds that the two survivors were in the water about 10 minutes before they were rescued.

Fire protection for cottagers

dents and cottagers.

"We tried to find damage centres (to cottages, buildings in the flood plain). We are also doing a survey of building floor elevations, etc., to determine how much damage a one in 100 year flood plane would do. We are also trying to develope an early warning system," said Keleher.

He added that the authority hopes to develope a flood protection system - raising up buildings, etc.

LAND FILL

At the Moira Cottagers for Clean Water meeting, Keleher also stressed the fact that anyone intending to put fill on their site must call the authority for permits, even for areas such as covering roots of trees exposed from the high spring water levels.

"The regulation was written in 1963 and is a little bit out-dated. We are bringing in a new fill regulation and by the next annual meeting, we may have an update on the regulation," said Keleher.

WATERSHED PLAN

Keleher said the MRCA is preparing to establish long-term directives for the next 10 years. He said they plan to define everything from their role in conservation to flood protection. He adds that they plan to have a number of open houses in October but are not sure of the exact dates and locations yet.

FIRE PROTECTION AND ZONING

Huntingdon Township Reeve Glenn Franks and Councillor Ken Yarrow attended the annual meeting to answer any questions cottagers had. Franks explained that the township has an agreement with Madoc Village and Tweed for fire protection in emergencies. He also said the township would try to come to some sort of an agreement with cottage owners who wish to upgrade private roads if they come to council meetings. One owner expressed concern over the price the township quoted for grading work on his private road. Franks said the township tries to be fair, but must not abuse government funding. He added that they will provide gravel at cost price.

Concerning the new zoning bylaw, Franks said the township will work with owners to determine whether dwellings can be given year-round home status, or can be classed as a seasonal dwelling.

DELORO ARSENIC

Chris Ramshaw, operations officer of the Ministry of Environment attended the cottagers' annual meet to show slides of the Deloro Mine and outline measures they have taken in the past two years to alleviate arsenic contamination into the Moira River.

He said the new lagoon and treatment plant have reduced arsenic content in water released into the river to "an acceptable level."

Ramshaw also gave an account of the history of the mine since it began operations about 100 years ago.

UFI gets 'go ahead'

Failure to obey the order in full could result in charges under the Business Practices Act.

The UFI enrollee who joins as a "Research Director" can recruit and receive one per cent commission from people five levels below him in the chapter. This chapter could contain as many as 3,905 recruits, says Mitchell.

"You can't make a lot of money in UFI. You could possibly make $3,900 per month if you had a full 3,900 people in the chapter and each submitted $100 worth of tapes each month," says Mitchell.

Mitchell says it is going to be hard to police 3,905 people recruited in any one chapter. He says they could have meetings and it would be hard to tell what they were saying.

Mitchell adds that the company uses the phrase, "down line geometric progression for the chapter development process, which is just another word for pyramid."

President of UFI William Newbauer says, "The tribunal did a fantastic job in my opinion. They completely analyzed every piece of material. It was an extremely impressive two days."

Before July, there were no processing centres located in Canada and people had to send memberships to the U.S. for processing. As of July, UFI has opened a processing centre in Ottawa, Alberta and Toronto.

At last count, Newbauer says there were 2,000 people enroled in the plan. He adds that the process was slowed by the cease-and-desist order but last week they shipped 500 kits into Canada.

"Because of the new centres just opening up, Ottawa and Toronto say their phones have been ringing off the hook 12 hours a day," says Newbauer.

Mitchell says that if UFI has got 2,000 directors in Ontario and each of them got 3,900 recruits under them, mathematics would show they would have eaten up the population of Ontario to a total of approximately 8 million people.

"I think you might see it die in the vine in the next couple of years. It's interesting and if people want to send in their tapes, then fine," says Mitchell.

Hazzard's Church opens for 66th annual service

The one hundred and twenty-sixth anniversary of the building of Hazzard's Church was remembered on Sunday, August 14th, when more than one hundred people gathered to worship in the historic old church.

Services have been held at Hazzard's Corners since the early 1830s, first in a log school house - later in a Methodist assembly.

Lovely flowers added to the beauty of the old church.

The Rev. Hilary Scrutton conducted the service speaking from two passages in the Gospels, Luke 2:41-52 and Matt. 16: 13-20. She emphasized that we can safely believe in the things in which Jesus believed: in people, in the church and in the Bible.

A quintette composed of Don Bailey, Lorne Hagerman, George Best, John Beer, and Bob McNeil, sang several numbers. They were accompanied by Katherine Burnside Fleming. Congregational singing of the old familiar hymns added to the sense of worship.

We thank those who arranged this annual summer service which provides an opportunity for former members, old acquaintances and friends to meet.

Security service would threaten liberties

BY TOM VRADENBURG

Roy McMurtry still doesn't like Bill C-157, and he is appearing in Ottawa this week to tell the federal government just that.

The bill introduced this spring to create a new civilian security service "is a very bad piece of legislation. It's a piece of legislation that a country like Canada, with our traditions of freedom and respect for individual liberties, don't need," Ontario's attorney-general said last Friday.

Attorney-General Roy McMurtry in a more festive mood during the opening ceremonies Friday afternoon for Stirling's 125th anniversary.

The new spy service would take over the job of the RCMP Security Service — intelligence and counter-intelligence work, and investigating those thought to be a threat to Canada's national security.

"Basically what the bill does is establish a form of police force that will have an excuse to open up a file on every single person in the country," Mr. McMurtry told The News-Argus.

Right now the RCMP Security Services keeps files on about 800,000 Canadians.

"When you look at the legislation there is absolutely no limit to whom they can investigate and we're talking about people who have committed no offense, who have committed no crime."

The 800,000 Canadians now on the RCMP's computers are not permitted to see their files and that won't change with the new legislation. As well members of the new spy service will be able to commit crimes in the line of duty and not have to face the consequences in a court trial. Canadian policemen who commit crimes while on duty do go to court just like ordinary citizens.

And federal solicitor-general Robert Kaplan has said the proposed civilian security service would not have to report to his office, though the solicitor-general would have the authority to hire and fire the security service's director.

All 10 provincial attorneys-general have spoken against the bill and not just because, in Mr. McMurtry's words, it is "too broad." Aside from the civil liberties and public accountability issues, the provinces are worried that the spy service would take away some of their criminal investigation powers.

Canada does need its own spies, Mr. McMurtry said, but the RCMP Security Service, placed under stricter controls to render it more capable, could do the job.

"We need an effective security service. But it should be given a more specific mandate. It should be directed to investigate matters that are obviously a threat to the security of Canada." Mr. McMurtry noted that the proposed spy service would be allowed to judge for itself what constitutes a threat to national security without the government looking over its shoulder.

"If you're having a meeting in your living room and you're supporting the opposition in some totalitarian nation like Russia or South Africa, you fall within the definition of a security threat, and it annoys me slightly to think that people who might be considered a security threat to Russia would automatically be considered a security threat to Canadians."

Government hampering efforts of farm credit Corp.

The federal government is hampering the efforts of the Farm Credit Corporation (FCC) to meet the credit needs of Canadian farmers, the president of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture (OFA) charged Aug. 5.

"Last year five out of six farmers who wanted FCC loans walked away without any money," Ralph Barrie said. "This year, things could be even worse."

In the first three months of its fiscal year, the FCC allocated its entire budget for the year. But when it sought approval to lend an additional $600 million to meet the approved loans on file, the government said it could only loan $250 million. The credit situation is so severe that FCC has refused to process loan applications since June 10.

To make matters worse, FCC sources say the chartered banks are pulling out of long-term mortgage lending to the farm community.

"Where are farmers to turn for long-term financing?" Barrie asked. "The FCC doesn't have the money and the banks aren't interested in the long-term mortgage market."

Barrie called on the federal government to make the FCC a primary source of credit to the farm community as it was in the 1970s. He pointed out that in 1977 the FCC accounted for 45 per cent of long-term farm credit extended in the country. But in 1981 the agency accounted for only 21 per cent of long-term farm credit extended.

"It's quite obvious the government isn't letting the FCC live up to its mandate as a major source of farm credit," Barrie said. "These days the agency is little more than a lender of last resort."

Barrie said a first step towards revitalizing the FCC would be to let it increase its budget to meet loan requests on file. And to provide for adequate long term capital in the future.

Eldorado Beauties win first semi-final

The Eldorado Beauties played their first game in semi-finals against Hickson on Sunday and gave the capacity crowd a very exciting game.

Being good hosts they spotted the Hickson girls five runs before they got on the scoreboard. But in the bottom of the third they tied the score. With one out, Elizabeth walked. Susan reached on a hit ball. With two out, Linda doubled to score Elizabeth. Patti reached on a hit ball and then Paula H. connected for a grand slam, the only home run hit in the game.

In the fourth the Beauties scored their sixth run when Candy walked, stole second and third and scored on an error by the catcher.

In the top of the fifth, Hickson tied it up, but in the bottom of the fifth Eldorado scored five to go ahead 11-5. Andrea led off with a walk, Linda singled, and Patti reached on an error. Paula H. then walked to score Andrea. Linda scored when Suzanne walked and Patti scored on a walk to Paula C. With two out, Susan doubled to score Paula H. and Suzanne Franks.

The score at the end of the fifth was 11-6.

In the sixth, Linda led off with a walk and came all the way home when a pick-off attempt went into centre field.

Hickson added one in the top of the seventh when, with one out, Gwen doubled and then scored on a single by Kim. But that was all the attack they could muster and the final score of the game was 12-7 for the Beauties.

The next game will be in Hickson on Aug. 28, at 2 p.m.

Line score for game: for Hickson, 14 strikeouts, 7 walks and 5 hits; for the Beauties, 15 strikeouts, 2 walks and 7 hits.

Keep up the good work girls. Best of luck in Hickson.

Golden Helmets plan tour

Commissioner James L. Erskine recently announced that the OPP Golden Helmets will begin their 1983 Fall Tour on Sept. 2.

The popular precision motorcycle team is renowned for giving a superb exhibition of riding ability which emphasizes total control of the machine by professional police riders.

"Motorcycles are a real asset in those areas of the province where traffic is a major problem," says Commissioner Erskine. "Our motorcycle officers are proud of the skill they have developed to better assist the motoring public."

Golden Helmets team members are all regular working OPP officers and many have performed with the group for a number of years.

The motorcycles used in the performance are Harley Davidson Police Specials used for normal traffic patrol work. They are equipped with two-way radios, electronic sirens, emergency lights and most importantly a professional operator.

'On Wardsworth Lake'

The Ballet of the Mists
Begins at sunrise on Wadsworth Lake.

The bird calls are numerous,
But only my Canada Bird is clarion.

The loons have returned
And all is pregnantly peaceful on my lake.
The Great Blue Heron
Noisily wings his way west; and the cock crows.

I must away to the little ones.
And see them warm in their beds.
My wood stove and I are gods
Together in our fairy cabin.

Have you seen the shadows of the dawn's sun
Playing on the Cambrian Shield Shore?

Environment Minister takes the low road

By ARLIN HACKMAN

Ontario's new Environment Minister, the Honourable Andrew Brandt, wasted no time in setting his priorities. Unfortunately, his recent refusal to initiate an environmental assessment of the Obonga Lake forest access road shows that environmental protection does not head the list.

The notion of a forest access road may spark images of a picturesque trail winding through the woods. In reality, the Obonga Lake Road under construction north of Thunder Bay is an all-weather industry highway, which carves a wide swath through the forest, and allows huge logging trucks to pass at high speed. Far from benign, these roads disrupt fish and wildlife habitat and cause serious erosion and sedimentation, with consequent effects on water quality.

On the economic side these are obvious benefits. In remote areas road access opens the door to development. Sound forest management, requires extensive road networks. And this access may also serve a variety of recreational pursuits. But all these benefits only add up, and exceed the costs, if there is a lot of careful planning before construction begins. Otherwise any particular road, let alone the poorly planned networks which criss-cross Northern Ontario can cause land use conflicts and resource depletion.

The Obonga Lake road is one of many examples. Being built into virgin territory, at public expense, to help Domtar salvage some aging timber, it is in reality being used to get at much younger wood which should not be cut now. In the process, traplines, fish spawning areas and remote tourist operations are being sacrificed. Though he acknowledged the validity of these concerns, Mr. Brandt quickly rejected a request from local outfitters, conservationists, and their MPP for an environmental assessment. He also chose not to seek the counsel of the Environmental Assessment Advisory Committee, established for this purpose.

The buck must ultimately stop at the desk of Natural Resources Minister Alan Pope, whose department is responsible for the sorry state of forest management planning in this province. However Mr. Brandt had a perfect opportunity, and the mandate, to take the initiative in finding a remedy for this particular problem and spur his colleague to action. He chose not to take it.

Perhaps ongoing public pressure, including some from his own advisory committee, will cause him to reconsider. That is to be hoped, because the Obonga situtation is far from unique and Ontario deserves more than a "Minister of Exemptions" as defender of teh environment.

Summer farmers head back to cities

For around 200 Ontario urban young people, this summer will be one that they will not soon forget.

Through their participation in the Ministry of Agriculture and Food's Junior Agriculturalist Program, these students, who nine weeks ago had no farm experience, are leaving the farm with much valuable knowledge.

The Junior Agriculturalist Program, which is funded by the Ontario Youth Secretariat and co-ordinated by the Rural Organizations and Services Branch of the ministry, affords youth the opportunity to live and learn in rural Ontario. Through their time spent on the farm they acquire practical farm knowledge and develop an appreciation for agriculture and rural life! The program also serves the Ontario farmer by providing a subsidized labor source.

Having just completed its 12th season, the program is gaining in popularity and judging by comments from this year's participants - Host Farmers and Junior Agriculturalists - the goals of the program are being achieved. Many of these students will return to their new found families in future summers.

Information regarding the 1984 Junior Agriculturalist Program and application forms for both students and farmers will be available in high schools and county agricultural offices in late February of next year.

Faye Dance [left] and co-host Greg Beresford sign autographs after the 314th edition of Wintario held last Thursday night at Stirling's arena. Last week's winning lottery numbers were drawn before a packed house of over 1,800—more people than live in the village, and more people than at any other Wintario show this summer.

Dave [Elvis] Potts delivers his rendition of the '50s classic "Love Me Tender" in front of a packed house at Stirling's Community Hall last week. He was part of the musical Thanks for the Memories, which played Monday and Tuesday as part of the village's 125th anniversary celebrations.

4H Homemakers' club

Q. Who invented peanut butter?

Q. Why do we eat pumpkin pie for Thanksgiving?

Q. Did MacDonalds make the first hamburger?

These and many more of our traditions concerning food are the subject of a new 4-H Homemaking Club project called "Ontario Heritage".

At each of seven meetings a multicultural meal will be prepared with such favorites as Scotch Eggs, Dutch Peach Kuchen, Borsch and Jamaican Meat Patties. Members will learn about the various nationalities in the community and their origins and food traditions.

This club is open to anyone age 12 to 26. There must be two volunteer adult leaders who are willing to attend a two-day leadership workshop in preparation for the project, organize a club and teach the subject matter. There must be 4 individuals to form a club.

Why not start a club in your area? Or join an existing club? It's delicious fun!

This project begins in early September.

Planning department study

There are 555 lakes in Hastings County with an estimated surface area of 44 thousand acres. The majority of the lakes are between eleven and fifty acres in area and only nine are larger than one thousand acres. The majority of the lakes are accessible, most frequently by secondary roads, although access by public trails, 4 x 4 routes and private roads is also common.

The County Planning Department recently completed a water study which examined the amount of development around the lakeshores and the capacity of the waterbodies to sustain wildlife and recreational activities.

There are approximately 4,000 seasonal and permanent homes and 2,400 campsites on the lakeshores in the county. On Baptiste Lake, the largest lake in the county, there are upwards of 500 cottages. Other popular resort lakes are Kamaniskeg, Papineau, Lake St. Peter, Wollaston, Limerick, Crowe and Moira. Cottaging is also popular on the numerous lakes in Faraday Township. In addition to the cottage sites already developed there are another 600 existing vacant lots available.

Water quality in the northern townships is considered good, but the quality of some lakes in the southern and central townships is deteriorating due to overdevelopment. Lake quality can usually be determined by the ability of the waterbody to support certain fish species. The presence of lake trout is an excellent indication that the water quality is high. Typically lake trout lakes are deep and clear, with low average temperatures and high dissolved oxygen concentrations. Twenty-five such lakes have been identified in the county. Another 181 lakes sustain other trout species and the remaining lakes are classified as warm water fisheries. The water report states: "Many of the study lakes have good potential for future development without any fear of lowering their overall water quality while others have limited potential for future development."

The two determining factors affecting overall water quality are nutrient enrichment and acidification. Acid rain has contributed to the pollution of many lakes in south central Ontario. "The primary factor determining the sensitivity of a lake to acidification is its alkalinity or acid-neutralizing capacity." Lakes vary in ability to neutralize acid, those with alkaline soil limestone deposits having a greater resistance to this form of pollution. Spring run-offs or snow melting periods create the heaviest "loadings".

The Ministry of the Environment surveyed 71 lakes in the county for acid sensitivity. Forty-three lakes were classified as not sensitive to acid loadings. These lakes "contain sufficient buffering capacity to neutralize acid rain for an indefinite period of time." Another thirteen lakes were considered only marginally sensitive, biological damage would only result from extreme run-off conditions. The remaining seventeen lakes surveyed were considered moderately sensitive. Periodic monitoring of the lakes is continuing.

The other major source of pollution stems from enrichment of the nutrient levels in the water. Increases in nutrients are directly related to increases in shoreline development and activity. Typically the soils surrounding high quality lakes are thin and hence they are unable to absorb or hold nutrient run-off from septic systems, fertilizers or waste from such activities as marinas and sawmills. The residue flows into the water and stimulates the growth of undesirable algae and phytoplankton. Such growth consumes large amounts of oxygen required to sustain fish species. Effectively, nutrient loading of the lakes reduced the reproductive potential for fish spawning and radically decreases the clear water characteristic of the lakes. As a rule, a lake that cannot support fish is not safe for humans.

On the other hand, lakes which have considerable vegetative growth are ideal habitats for waterfowl nesting and feeding. Such waterbodies, while not suitable for recreational activities such as swimming and waterskiing, provide bird watching and hunting opportunities.

There are numerous rivers in the county with high recreational potential for fishing, canoeing and cottaging. The rivers are subject to the same degree of sensitivity to pollutants as the lakes. Curbing nutrient enrichment of the lakes without controlling nutrient loading along the riverbanks is futile as the rivers and their tributaries flow into many of the most popular lakes.

The intent of the revised policies of the Official Plan is to maintain or improve the water quality of the lakes and rivers. Pollutants, leached into the soils and running off into the water courses, will destroy the capacity of the lakes and rivers to sustain wildlife and recreational opportunities.

Barrie says government should introduce Agri-bonds

the government should introduce Agri-bonds.

Agri-bonds would offer farmers a source of long-term funding at interest rates below the going market rates. Agri-bonds would do this by granting investors tax concessions, so a lower interest rate could be paid on the bonds, but the after-tax return would be comparable to conventional bonds.

"All we want is for the government to give farmers the credit they deserve," Barrie said.

Managing your money

BY HARRY L. MARDON

Canada is a steadily aging society. Already 23 per cent of the population is age 50 and over, and demographers estimate that will increase to 28 per cent by the end of the century.

What this means is that a growing number of Canadians are concerned about their retirement income situation.

Those who are now over the age of 65 have rather limited opportunities to enhance their financial position. Their main concern is to preserve the purchasing power of the capital they accumulated during their working lives. Their biggest enemy is inflation.

Canadians in the 50-to-65 age bracket are in a vastly different predicament. They are in their peak earnings period. The wise ones are striving to create enough capital to provide at least a reasonable level of financial independence for their retirement years. The imprudent ones are still procrastinating. The biggest enemy of this age group is time—actually, the lack of time.

The years which seem to drag for teenagers, pass all too swiftly for the middle-aged.

It's foolhardy to think that government will look after you in your old age, unless you'll be content to live at about the poverty line. In order to maintain a decent standard of living you will have to provide your own supplements to the basic government retirement income programs. That takes planning, determination and self-discipline.

A recent report by Statistics Canada underlines the importance of Canadians undertaking realistic retirement planning.

The report disclosed that average family income increased by nearly 24 per cent during the 1971-1981 period, after taking inflation into account. However, virtually all of that gain was in the first half of that period. Between 1976 and 1981 average family income after inflation increased by only one per cent.

Inflation continued to rage through most of 1982. It has abated somewhat so far in 1983, but many economists fear the inflation rate may rise sharply next year.

A certain amount of inflation is inevitable for any dynamic economic system. The reverse, which is called deflation, usually only occurs in a period of outright depression such as the Dirty Thirties, when the cost-of-living declined over a period of years.

The average Canadian has somewhat limited opportunities to protect himself or herself against inflation. One method is to have your annual net income rise at the same rate as inflation. This will preserve the purchasing power of your dollars.

Another method is to have your savings and investments dollars earning a rate of return that is higher than the inflation rate. It has to be higher because a large portion of your investment earnings may be taxable. To cope with a rising cost of living you have to use after-tax dollars.

Fortunately, it's almost never too late to put your financial affairs in order, even if you're already in retirement. We'll deal with this topic in future columns.

(Mr. Mardon, formerly business editor of the Winnipeg Tribune, is manager of corporate communications for The Investors Group, the Winnipeg-based financial planning services company.)

Boy rides in 'General Lee' duplicate

Two young men driving an exact duplicate of the Dukes of Hazzard car called "General Lee" came to Madoc a week from last Sunday and made a 12-year-old local boy named Kenny Lee very happy. Recently home from the Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto, Kenny suffers from spina bifida, an ailment of the spine from birth.

Steven Pinnock and Rick Neven of Laval, Que., spend every summer driving the car across Canada so fans of the television show can observe, ride and take pictures of the car. The car was displayed at the Belleville Plaza, but due to Kenny's recent operation, he was unable to travel to Belleville. Upon the request of the family, the men agreed to drive to Kramp's Restaurant so Kenny could get a look.

"It was really nice of them to come up to Madoc, because I missed it last year. On the day they were in Belleville, my dad was taken to hospital with kidney stones," says Kenny.

Kenny, who's walking is steadily improving after the recent operations, was helped into the car by Rick and taken for a drive. During Kenny's adventure, Kenny's mother took a series of pictures of the elated boy.

"You should have seen that boy (Rick). He picked Kenny up like he was nothing and put him in the car," relates Kenny's mother.

"They had a sign up at Kramp's that said "welcome General Lee," and the time on it was 10:30," says Kenny with a smile, "but it was really 11:30 they were supposed to come."

Kenny Lee displays two models

Kenny's mother says the young men driving General Lee struck out for North Bay the following day, and then plan to drive to Manitoba and Calgary. Children taken for rides are charged and they also sell polaroid pictures of the youngster with the car to raise money.

If one were to walk into the Lee home at RR 4, Madoc, today, chances are he or she would notice an ailing old model of "General Lee" sitting on the kitchen table amongst sheets of paper on which are various sketches done by the boy. Those are two of his favorite hobbies, he says.

"I made this model of the Dukes' car when I was about eight years old. Now I have a new one and I'm going to start all over with that one," says Kenny as he points out a box containing new plastic model parts.

Kenny explains the Dukes of Hazzard show was derived from a pilot movie, but feels the series is much better than the pilot.

"They had a movie they took the Dukes of Hazzard off of, but it was stupid," says a smiling Kenny. "You know what I mean—it wasn't very good."

This September, Kenny will be starting grade six at Madoc Public School where he says his favorite subjects are spelling and art.

"...And sometimes I like gym," laughs Kenny, "but I can't do much of that lately."

Kenny has a great many sketches collected. He has skillfully sketched all the Star Wars characters, Wizard of Oz characters and many more, including his personal creations. The drawings he is most proud of are the Star Wars series, including Return of the Jedi.

Kenny, the youngest of three brothers and three sisters, has had four operations in the past year. On July 18, of this year, he entered hospital to receive shunt revision, which drains fluid from the brain down to the stomach; and for plugging the Obex, an area where fluid was draining into the spine and affecting his legs.

Since his release from hospital on August 10, Kenny has been going to Belleville twice a week for physiotherapy "and has been doing very well," says Kenny's mother.

"I could run and everything before, but now I can't. Dr. Hoffman (Kenny's doctor) says that with therapy, I'll be back to normal," says Kenny.

If everything goes well, Kenny should be doing some catching up on activities next summer. He says he hopes to go to Canada's Wonderland, ride his bicycle, swim and go camping at Glen Allan Park. One of the highlights of Kenny's summer next year will be the wedding of his brother Tom. Kenny will be a junior usher.

Rick Neven and Steven Pinnock of Laval, Que., talk to Kenny as he sits in General Lee.

Madoc to host All-Ontario Bantam Championship

Madoc Elm-vale Farms Bantam boys will host the OASA Bantam championship tournament this weekend Aug. 27-28 at the Madoc Ball Park with four games on Sat. being played at the Eldorado Ball Park.

There will be seven zone champion teams coming, with Madoc being the host making up the eighth team. Teams will be coming from Clavering, Binbrook, Goodwood, Minesing, Wellington, Sharbot Lake and Englehart.

Games at both ball parks will start Sat. morning at 11 o'clock. The last game in Eldorado will start at 4 o'clock, but games in Madoc will run till 10 o'clock Sat. evening. The tournament on Sunday will commence at 10 o'clock at the Madoc Ball Park and run through until finish, around 5:30. Opening ceremonies will start at 10 a.m. on Saturday morning and also at the opening ceremony the Junior "C" hockey draw will take place for $1,000. This will be the fourth draw, so if you don't win on this draw, you will have another eight chances.

This will be the first OASA tournament championship held in Madoc, if it is well attended and a success, we will be applying for more in the years to come.

Coach Richard of the Madoc Bantam boys says there will be a lot of good games played at both diamonds, as all the teams coming will be zone champions and don't be surprised to see a few balls hit over the home run fence in Madoc. The first game for the local boys will be at 11 a.m. against Sharbot Lake at the Madoc ball park, while in Eldorado, Wellington and Minesing will hook up. Let's support this event, so we can apply for another OASA tournament.

Springbrook Sparks advance to provincial semi-finals

The Springbrook Sparks Bantan girls' softball team advanced to the provincial semi-finals in Ontario Rural Softball Association play-downs two weeks ago with a 10-4 triumph over Warkworth.

The victory allowed the girls to take the best two-out-of-three series in two straight games.

Although the score was convincing enough, the game did not display as strong an effort as previous Springbrook victories.

A sputtering offence produced runs scored by: Debbie Carson with Tracey Danford and Leanne Johnston, two each; Connie Foshay, Tammy Teertstra and Chris Reid, one a piece.

In the runs-batted-in department, Connie Foshay, Tammy Teertstra and Lisa Williams drove in two each, while Debbie Carson, Tracey Danford, Leanne Johnston and Tracey Morton each drove in one win.

Defensively Sherry Danford sparkled brightest in the field with several big plays, including an excellent catch on a fly ball which would have scored two runs if not caught.

In the pitching department Leanne Johnston picked up the win going 4 picked up the win going 4 and 1/3 innings, giving up four runs on six hits and seven walks. Leanne struck out five.

With one out in the fifth inning Debbie Carson came on in relief and slammed the door on Warkworth by striking out six of the final eight outs and allowing no runs.

The girls now enter into the provincial semi-finals against Hornby. The first game is slated for Monday night, July 15, at Springbrook. Game time is 6:30 p.m., but any fans wishing player autographs please be at the park at least half an hour early.

There was a robbery but there is no need for the umpire to keep his hands up much longer. He was indicating the safe arrival at third base of Rob Fife of the Hastings fastball team. He had just stolen third base and knocked Westwood's third baseman flying in the process. Hastings went on to win the game but lost the next to the same Westwood team. Westwood won the Havelock Summerfest tournament held August 13th and 14th in Havelock.

Lakefield men's league results

There are only two weeks of action left in the regular schedule of the Lakefield Men's Softball League and the only team sure of where they will be in the standings when it is over is first place Bowes & Cocks.

As a result Bowes & Cocks have won the Wayne Bond Trophy which goes to the team that completes the regular schedule in first place and will be presented to the team at the first playoff game Sept. 6.

All other positions are still up for grabs including the tight race for the fourth and final playoff position which is presently held by On The Spot (formerly Woodview) who have 18 points while the Legion trail by only two points with Big Johns creeping up with 14 points.

Dixie Lee, who two weeks ago was in the battle for first place, have dropped five games in a row and are now tied with Switzer Sports for second both with 24 points.

Eldorado Junior Cheddars win two in a row

The Junior Cheddars are up two games to nil in their first round series play-offs. As an expansion team this year in the Stirling and District League, they finished the year in seventh place and were paired against Madoc Minutemen in the playoffs.

In the opening game on Tuesday, the Cheddars defeated Madoc on their home field 8-2. The Juniors jumped into an early 3-1 lead at the end of the first and never looked back, scoring enough runs in the first inning to win the game. Doug Reid led off first with a single, followed by a double by Don Goodfellow; both runners scored when Bill Bateman doubled with one out. Bateman eventually came home with the third run and game winner. Madoc's lone run was scored by Nickle.

In the third, the Cheddars added two more insurance runs when Doug R. singled and Don G. reached safely on an error. Doug scored on a sacrifice fly by Bill and Don scored on a single to Andy R. The score at the end of the third was 5-1 for the Cheddars.

In the fifth three runs were added when the bats became alive. Doug led off with a single, was forced at second by a fielder's choice by Don. Don was three out at the plate on a ball hit to right field which allowed Steve Whyte to reach safely. Bill followed this with a double and then three consecutive singles by Andy, Brennan and Mark resulted in the scoring of three runs to make the score 8-1.

Madoc added a run of their own in the bottom of the fifth when Fleming crossed the plate. Final score of the game was 8-2 for the Junior Cheddars.

Franks was on the mound for the winners with three strikeouts, two walks and five singles. Kramp and Sexsmith shared mound chores for Madoc, recording 10 hits, one walk and 13 strikeouts.

On Thursday night in Eldorado the Cheddars thrilled a capacity crowd with a repeat performance defeating Madoc 7-2.

Again the Juniors jumped in front with a 2-0 lead at the end of the first on runs by Doug and Bill. Doug led off with a walk and scored on a single by Bill. Bill scored when an error allowed Andy to reach safely.

Madoc scored one in the top of the second to make the score 2-1. A home run was scored by Thompson.

In the bottom of the second, the Juniors added four more runs and never looked back. Scott walked, Mark reached on an error; Kevin reached safely on a bunt; Doug reached on a fielder's choice. All four boys scored to make the score 6-1. The game winning run was scored by Scott.

Mark added another insurance run in the third when he hit a towering drive to deep left field for a home run.

Thompson scored in the top of the sixth for Madoc's second run.

Franks again pitched for the winners giving up six hits, walking none and striking out four.

Sexsmith was the losing pitcher with six hits and seven strikeouts. Another excellent game and it puts the Cheddars in front two games to none in a best of five. Next game will be in Madoc on Wednesday, Aug. 24, at 7 p.m. The fourth game will be in Eldorado on Thursday, Aug. 25.

Eleven players and twelve fans travelled to Norwich on Wednesday, Aug. 17, to participate in the first game of the ORSA semi-finals. Fans were treated to an excellent game of softball as they witnessed a one-hitter. Both pitchers threw excellent ball and 27 strikeout were recorded. Mike Van Vliet was on the mound for Norwich and recorded 15 strikeouts in seven innings with no hits and nine walks. Marty Shaw pitched for Eldorado with twelve strikeouts in six innings pitched. He also had nine walks and gave up one safe hit. Eldorado left eight on base.

Norwich scored first in the bottom of the second when with one out Darren N. walked, and eventually scored on a close play at home.

Eldorado tied the game in the fourth, again when a one-out walk allowed Scott Tracey to reach base and eventually steal home with Eldorado's only run.

In the fifth, Norwich scored the game winning run when Mike H. walked and with two out Mike C. tripled. He scored on play as ball was thrown away at home. In the sixth, Mike V. scored after a lead-off walk put him on base.

An excellent game of ball for spectators and players alike. The next game will be in Eldorado, Saturday at five.

On Saturday, the Atoms hosted Norwich and lost a very close 8-7 game. It was a far cry from the first game where only one hit was scored.

Eldorado had eight hits and Norwich 7. Both teams were very evenly matched. Eldorado went into a 1-0 lead in the first when Marty singled and scored when an error allowed Pat to reach first. Norwich tied it up in the second on a home run.

In the fourth Norwich scored two on a hit and an error and another in the fifth on a single and a few stolen bases. In the bottom of the fifth, Eldorado added one more run on a walk and an error which allowed Pat G. to reach first.

In the top of the sixth, Norwich added another and set the stage for an exciting finish. Joe McGaw crossed the plate for one run in the sixth. In the bottom of the seventh, Troy Trotter bunted with two out to advance Scott Tracey and ended up coming all the way around to tie up the game.

In the top of the eighth, with one out, Norwich had two singles, a walk and two errors to score three runs and go three up.

But Eldorado was not to be counted out as with two out Ian singled, advanced to third on two stolen bases and scored when Marty beat out an infield hit. Scott Tracey then laid a beautiful bunt down the first base line to reach safely and score Marty. Pat Graham reached safely, but side was retired before the game could be tied.

Line score for Norwich, 8 hits, 5 walks and 16 strikeouts; for Eldorado, with Marty Shaw on the mound, seven hits, three walks and 15 strikeouts. An excellent game and one all team members can be proud of. Boys now have their league tournament on Sat., Aug. 27, in Frankford.

One Foot in the Furrow

by Bob Trotter

My great-grandfather, an Irishman to the core, would kick the cover off his coffin if he heard me praising a British prime minister but observers of agriculture just have to admit that Margaret Thatcher could give a few lessons to urban politicians in this country.

Too many in Canada have backgrounds that do not include manure. Bill Davis had to appoint a non-farmer to the agminister's post.

During the election campaign in Britain, the Iron Lady said farmers were the salt of the earth and were entitled to an increase in their incomes.

With the exception of Eugene Whelan at the federal level, who else has come out four-square for farmers? And Eugene's voice, as powerful as it once was, seems to be crying in the Liberal wilderness these days.

Mrs. Thatcher told the electorate that farmers were far more efficient than most of the industries in her country and deserved an increase.

She even boldly suggested that the trade union movement should strive for the same efficiency that farmers have been able to create. Naturally, the big-city daily newspapers took her to task for suggesting that farmers deserve every penny they get. The papers called the increase in farm income disgraceful and immoral, just as the big-city papers in Canada would if Canadian farmers started making a reasonable return on their labor and investment.

The big papers won't favor agriculture, you see, because most of their income depends on big business.

If farm income increased 45 per cent in Canada—as it did in Britain—the hue and cry here would be awesome to behold. There would be a demand for an investigation, a Royal Commission and the consumers association would see that all marketing boards were scrapped. Probably the Reader's Digest would get into the act and commission a scathing lead story full of innuendo against orderly marketing and quotas.

But Mrs. Thatcher was brilliant enough to know that when the farm community is healthy, the rest of the economy is healthy. The bigger agricultural income dollar is spent immediately and the whole economy benefits. The prosperity spins off, right back to the cities.

Maybe that is what Canada needs next: a hard-nosed lady as leader of one of the political parties instead of an aging playboy like Pierre E.T. or a competent but tired Ed B.

The Tories are already stuck with the jut-jawed Irishman.

The Grits will, undoubtedly, dump Pierre before the next election. Broadbent still has the confidence of his caucus and Mulroney has yet to be tested in the House of Commons.

Now, if the Grits are smart they will go for a lady leader, one who will stand for no nonsense in the Cabinet and come up smelling like roses in the crunch as Margaret Thatcher did.

May we humbly suggest Ayatollah—whoops, I mean, Iona—Campagnolo? (I don't think I can spell her name right yet but I could learn in a hurry).

And she's a lot purtier than Maggie, too.

Bill, Jean & family. -11

COOK - In loving memory of Howard Cook who passed away Aug. 24, 1975.
God took him home, it was His will,
But in our hearts we love him still.
His memory is as dear today,
As in the hour he passed away.
We often sit & think of him,
When we are all alone.
For memory is the only friend,
That grief can call its own.
Always remembered by, wife Pearl, daughters Barbara & Maryanne. -11

MEMORIAMS

FORD: In loving memory of a dear husband, Alex Ford, who passed away Aug. 19, 1982.
Gone but not forgotten,
A sadness still comes over me.

Memories keep you ever near me.
Though you died one year ago,
Sadly missed by wife. -11

SOLMES - In memory of a dear grandson, Faron, that was killed in a fatal truck accident, Aug. 19, 1982.
The midnight stars are shining,
Upon your silent grave.

He's gone to be an angel,
Secure in our Father's care.
And his feet will walk,
The beautiful streets up there.
Loved & rememberd by Nan, Pop, & family. -11

DAVIDSON - In loving memory of Earl who left us suddenly Aug. 28, 1977.
Today recalls the memory,
Of a loved one gone to rest.
And those who think of him today,
Are the ones who loved him best.
The flowers we lay upon his grave,
May wither & decay.
But the love for him who lies beneath,
Will never fade away.
Sadly missed by Mom, Dad, sisters & brothers. -11

WOOD - In memory of a dear mother & grandmother, Alice, who passed away Aug. 23, 1973.

BRONSON - In memory of a dear father & grandfather, Daniel, who passed away Aug. 23, 1979.

To hold your hand or say good-bye.
But we'll remember our whole lives through,
The last words we had with you.
Always remembered, always loved by Marcella, Crofton, Carey, Michelle, Richard & family. -11

Eldorado Beauties defeat Keene

In Eldorado on Thursday night, in a game called for darkness, the two teams played to a 14-14 tie. It was the most runs scored in a game against the girls this year. Scoring for Eldorado were Paula H. with three, Candy and Suzanne Franks with three, Patti B. had two and Linda, Andrea and Susan Shad one each.

Kathy Todd on the mound for Keene had 11 strikeouts, 6 walks and 8 hits. Andrea had 12 strikeouts, 10 walks and 6 hits. Because of this tie situation it forced another game on Friday night. This saw the team in action as if they had every intention of winning and win they did with a commanding 12-1 score.

After a scoreless first, Eldorado scored two in the second when Paula H. walked, stole second and scored on Suzanne's double. Suzanne later scored when a pick-off attempt at third resulted in the ball being thrown away.

In the top of the third, Keene scored their only run when lead-off batter Lynn Anne walked and scored on a passed ball.

But Eldorado was not finished yet as they scored runs in every inning. In the third, five runs crossed the plate. Susan reached on an error, was sacrificed to second. Lynda then reached on an error. Both girls scored on a double to Patti. Paula H. followed this with a walk. Both Patti and Paula scored on a home run to deep right field by Suzanne F. Hot dogs are tempting, eh Suzanne?

In the fourth, Susan led off with a double; scored on a single by Andrea. Andrea was scored when Patti singled.

In the fifth, Suzanne led off with a triple, scored on a single by Candy. She scored by stealing home.

Lynda scored in the sixth when she singled and was later sacrificed home by Paula H. Final score 12-1 for Eldorado.

Kathy Todd for Keene gave up nine hits, 4 walks with 8 strikeouts. Andrea had 14 strikeouts, 6 walks and one hit.

They now face Hickson in the semi-finals. Come out for some good exciting ball.

Midnight Madness attracts large crowd

According to the local merchants, the Midnight Madness Sale held last Friday night was a great success. All during the evening, the streets were crowded with interested shoppers, often carrying a bag of new merchandise in one hand, and an ice cream cone in the other.

Bob Bancroft of the Madoc Hotel apparently did a booming business selling roast beef sandwiches out on Durham St. from a catering trailer. Clara Stevenson of Madoc's Olde Curiosity Shoppe said she had one and it was "just beautiful".

Employees at the Madoc IGA participated in the sale by dressing in various styles of night apparel. Kevin Derry was particularly interesting.

At about 11:15 that evening, three draws for a total of $1,000 were held at Pigden Electronics. The $500, $300 and $200 prizes came in the form of gift certificates donated by a total of 34 local merchants. The draw was free, and provided no returns for the donators involved.

Winner of the first prize was Lee Ann Wickens of Madoc, second went to Valerie Whiteman, Madoc, and third went to Janette Grier, also of Madoc. The draw was made by Mrs. Myrtle Terry of Madoc, who was chosen from the crowd in front of Pigden's.

Pigden Electronics provided a constant stream of amplified information from a loud speaker, which outlined periodic half-hour sales at local stores. When the announcements were over, the speaker played a wide variety of music.

This young child was curious as to why all the adults were out late on a Friday night. The Midnight Madness sale in Madoc is reported to have been a great success.

Village clerk recovering from operation

Doug Parks, Madoc's clerk-treasurer for the past four years is now home recovering from surgery. Parks complained of headaches on August 1, and by August 5, he was admitted to Kingston General Hospital for surgery to remove a non-malignant tumor located on his pituitary gland. There were no complications.

"And that's good news," said Parks on the telephone recently.

Parks returned home from hospital on August 16, but he is unsure when he will be able to return to work. He was due for a check-up in Kingston this Tuesday and said he will know better by then how long it will take.

In the meantime, the village continues functioning with the temporary assistance of Marilyn Stephem of Belleville, who was Madoc's clerk before Doug Parks.

"I started working here on August 12, but I have no idea how much time it will take for Doug to recuperate. I understand he is doing very well," said Stephem.

Concerning her work, she said the first few days were hectic but now she is "catching on again". The August 30 council meeting will run as scheduled.

Guides end active year

Another active year is coming to an end for the First Madoc Guide Company. On Sept. 6 at 7 p.m., registration will be held at the Anglican Church Hall for girls aged nine to 12 who wish to become girl guides.

Over the past year the girls have actively participated in Mother's Morning Out, hikes, a "Cookie Day", Thinking Day, bon fire at the Madoc ball park, making a lunch for hundreds of Senior Citizens during their annual picnic held in July, and were the honor guard for the former governor general when he received the Peace Park Award.

"The girls didn't have a fun fair last year, but we hope to have one this year," says Doris Hagerman, guider in charge of Madoc Company. "We were also asked to help at the Ivanhoe Winter Carnival last year, but due to the weather conditions, it was cancelled."

One of the things the girls do every year is go for a camping trip. This past July

Office holiday

Man works 40 years for Bell

Arnold Ross, 56, of Madoc, recently received recognition from Bell Canada for having worked for the company a total of 40 years. Ross, now classed as a repair man, says himself and the group he works with went out for dinner to celebrate the occasion.

On July 7, 1943, the 16-year-old Ross started as a lineman for Bell Telephone in Ottawa, when the company used the old crank magneto telephones. From there he moved to Belleville and eventually moved up to Madoc where he became the "combination man", serving all of Madoc, Marmora, Tweed and Gilmour exchange. He says he started working as a repair man in Belleville about six years ago.

Ross was born in Cornwall, Ontario, and feels he may have started working too soon. "I should have went back to school, but I didn't. Education wasn't the thing it is today. Now you need more."

Ross says that over the years, the telephone industry has gone into using high technology, like component parts, chips, plug in units and more. To keep up with the times, Ross has attended weekly classes and seminars. But in his past 30 years as a repair man, he says he learned most of it on the job.

Boaters need signaling device

In an article that appeared in The Review on Aug. 24, headed "126 outboards stolen in district" it misquoted a new 1983 boating regulation. The article states that the new regulation says any craft 5.5 metres or longer must have a sound signaling device like an air horn, bell, etc.

In actual fact, the OPP says that any craft less than 5.5 metres like a canoe, sail boat, and row boat must have the sound signaling device. Our apologies.

Three killed in crash near Thomasburg

Three orientals killed in a car crash near Thomasburg last Thursday night were still not identified as of this Monday morning.

At 8:45 p.m., August 25, a southbound tractor-trailer unit struck a northbound vehicle and the three occupants of the northbound vehicle were killed.

At 4:55 p.m., Monday, the names of the victims were released. The driver Su Wai Lu, 21, formerly from Malasia, resided in Ottawa as a student; Hong Su Paul Chang, 43, of Sabah East Malasia and his wife, Teresa Min Yen Yong, 40, of the same address. The passengers were in Canada for a two week vacation.

The driver of the tractor unit, John H. Miller, 30, of 350 Perrault St., Pembroke and passenger Patricia Burraaud, 25, from Edmonton were not injured in the crash.

Assistance at the scene was provided by Tweed, Huntingdon and Madoc fire departments. Hastings County rescue vans also attended the tragedy.

Dr. Gibson Allen of Tweed was coroner.

No decision on charges or an inquest have been made, reports the local OPP.

The "lone ranger" as some locals call him, sat in front of the Madoc Hotel last Friday night to enjoy one of the barbecued beef sandwiches sold out of a catering wagon.

The Madoc Hotel turned hips of beef on two spits last Friday as part of the Midnight Madness Sale in the Village. Hundreds of people crowded both sides of the street all night during the sale.

Last weekend the Madoc baseball diamond was constantly on the go as eight boys' Bantam teams played for the Ontario title. Seven districts were represented, with the eighth being the host team. Madoc did quite well, winning two and losing two. They were eliminated at the half-way mark of the tournament. All games were played to seven innings. The winner was Wellington, who played Binbrook in the final game with a score of 6-0. Seen above is a Binbrook man batting the ball.

Adult education expands

The new school term at Centre Hastings Secondary School will soon be starting with an expanded adult program. The new courses will include Home Economics and a Co-educational Physical Education course. The Home Economics course will include advanced and gourmet cooking along with other useful crafts, and will be offered on Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons. The Physical Education course will be offered daily from 12:45 p.m. - 2 p.m. In addition to the new classes, Accounting, Art, Physical Education for Women and Typing are being offered in the same format as last year.

The courses along with morning day care is free but there will be a $4 student fee for all adult students. Anyone interested in the adult classes or any of the 120 regular classes should contact the school for more information or an appointment to discuss an individual program.

Bowlers attend play down

On Sun., Aug. 7 Peter Nayler lead; Robert Boyd vice; and Gary Tarrant skip; travelled to Cobourg to participate in the Central Ontario Lawn Bowling playdowns. The team played very well in the intense heat, but were outclassed by a more experienced team from Oshawa who had placed second in the All-Ontario finals last year.

Next year, the team hopes to better their second place finish at the Ontario Junior Lawn Bowling playdowns by competing in the Ontario Colts playdowns and numerous tournaments throughout central Ontario. With this, the team should receive the experience necessary to compete in and win these major tournaments.

Madoc's core steadily improves

BY STEVEN GOMBOS

Ever since the beginning of the summer, local core merchants in Madoc have been constantly at work improving the looks of their store fronts. Store owners have often been seen scraping, hammering and painting under some of the hottest sun anyone can remember for a very long time. And the village as a whole benefits from the effort. People have to spend money here to maintain a healthy economy. As long as the businesses here now are doing well the area will look attractive for other potential business-minded people who may invest money into the village. With more tax revenue, the council will be able to further improve the looks of our community.

Some of the changes or improvements that have taken place this summer include the Pigden Electronics and Radio Shack move into the old Connors Building after a remarkably fast renovation. The owners also improved the looks of the store front after moving in. Next door to Radio Shack is the new location of Kate's Bulk Food store that actually moved into the Connors building before Pigden's. There was a little cosmetic change in front of the Beamish store when the sign was changed to A & N Family Discount. Stock inside was changed quite a lot, according to local reports. Rupert's was purchased by Gord Johnston and refurbished inside and given a slightly different, improved look out front. The Curiosity Shoppe on Durham opened up and changes also occurred inside and out. The windows were decorated with paint, hanging plants and fancy signs. A new sign was put up.

Today's Girl was opened in the old Radio Shack space and renovated. A paint job and new sign out front did wonders for the west side of Durham St. On that same side up at the corner of Durham and St. Lawrence, the old restaurant space was renovated and opened as a video centre. A new sign and paint job helped looks there.

One of the most drastic cosmetic changes occur in the downtown area this summer was the complete face lift that took place at Wilson's gift shop on Durham St. In a few short days, the front of the store was completely torn off and a new one was built. The inside of the store was also improved.

With all the mentioned work and unmentioned work that has taken place in the core business district, it's no wonder many people have approached The Review and given favorable comments about the great improvement. And there's still more to come.

The show judge, Anne Drew of Nova Scotia, decided the placings of over 70 does in milk. Some special features of the Stirling Show include a junior competition and milkout.

Junior competitors are divided into three classes by age and must complete a quiz, a showmanship class and a timed milking. The Brandywine Cup donated by Brandywine Farm and Diron Acres was awarded to Beau Bishop (under seven years), Bobby Holditch (eight-12 years), and Andrew MacDonald (13-18 years).

The senior trophy winner is a participant in the local Junior Agriculturist program whose first experience with goats has been this summer on the farm of Alex and Laurene Winkler of RR1 Stirling.

This year's milking competition was won by Liddy J. Miss Tamara (4.6 kg.), owned by Ron and Diane Denyes of RR4 Stirling.

The best in show was Gentleman Jim's White Swan, a seven-year-old recorded grade owned by Jim and Freda Marlowe of Elginfield.

Golden Helmets coming to Madoc, Picton fairs

The OPP's Golden Helmets will be performing at the Madoc Fair and the Prince Edward County Fair in Picton as part of an Ontario-wide tour, Commissioner James L. Erskine announced recently.

The well-known police precision motorcycle team will be in Picton Sept. 9 at 2:45 p.m. and 8:30 p.m., and in Madoc Sept. 24 at 3 p.m. and Sept. 25 at 2 p.m.

"Motorcycles are a real asset in those areas of the province where traffic is a major problem," says Commissioner Erskine. "Our motorcycle officers are proud of the skill they have developed to better assist the motoring public."

Golden Helmets members are all regular working OPP officers, and many have performed with the team for several years.

The motorcycles used in the performances are Harley Davidson Police Specials used for normal traffic patrol work. They are equipped with two-way radios, electronic sirens, emergency lights and, most importantly, a professional operator.

Commissioner Erskine emphasized that the Golden

Atoms win Central Hastings

The Eldorado Atoms boys wrapped up a very successful year as they competed in the league playoffs in Frankford.

Playing in less than favorable circumstances, the boys won all four games by runaway scores. Lack of washrooms, no refreshments, wind and rain, left players and fans hungry, hot and tired.

Playing non-stop ball except for rain, they belted out four victories and proved they are indeed the best.

The opening game pitted them against Madoc and saw them in command the whole game coming away with a 17-6 victory in six innings. Joey Kehoe scored a run for Madoc in the top of the first, but this lead was short-lived as Marty Shaw crossed the plate in the bottom of the first to tie the game. In the bottom of the second, Eldorado scored three more runs by Joe McCaw, Charlie Garrow and Charlie Brownson to go ahead 4-1.

In the top of the third Joey and Bobby crossed the plate for Madoc to narrow the score to one run, but Eldorado took it away in the bottom of the third with six runs. Marty, Scott T., Pat G., Charles G., Craig H. and Brad A. crossed the plate with runs. Pat's run proved to be the game winner.

Jason Frances scored in the fourth for Madoc and Joey and Clayton in the fifth to make the score 10-6. Pat scored one in the bottom of the fifth for Eldorado and six more runs were added in the bottom of the sixth to make the final score 17-6. Craig G., Chad B., Marty S., Scott T., Pat G. and Troy T. were the marksmen.

Jason Frances and Clayton Curl shared mound duties for Madoc with four strikeouts, 12 hits and nine walks. Pat Graham went the distance for the winners with six strikeouts, 10 hits and no walks.

In the second game Eldorado was matched against Frankford and had an even easier time coming away with a 22-6 victory.

Eldorado started the game with five runs in the first when Ian, Marty, Pat, Troy and Joe crossed the plate.

Frankford scored three of their own in the bottom of the first to make the score 5-3. But Eldorado added four in the second to go ahead 9-4. Chad, Kevin, Ian and Marty were the marksmen with Marty's run being the winning run. Craig H. scored in the third and Kevin, Ian, Marty, Scott, Pat, Troy, Joe and Craig H. added eight runs in the fourth. Craig's run was a two run homer.

This pretty well iced the cake for Eldorado putting them into an 18-6 lead at the end of the fifth. But Eldorado's bats never cooled as they added another four in the sixth on runs by Pat, Troy, Joe and Brad. Brad's was a solo home run. Final score 22-6.

On the mound for Frankford was the smiling, gum-chewing Jaimie. His record - 10 strikeouts, two walks and 26 safe hits. On the mound for the winners was Marty; his record - 12 strikeouts, 8 walks and 5 hits.

The third game of the round robin saw Eldorado continue their hot streak in a rain delayed 19-4 victory over Springbrook.

Again they started their tally in the first with three runs scored by Marty, Scott and Troy. Springbrook came back with two in the bottom of the first on runs by Kevin and Jamie.

In the second, seven Eldorado runs crossed the plate scored by Brad, Charlie B., Chad, Kevin, Ian, Marty and Scott. Scott's proved to be a round bagger and Charlie's was the game winner. Troy scored one in the third, but Springbrook came back with two in the bottom of the third on runs by Mike and Sam.

In the fourth, the Atoms finished their onslaught with eight more runs to go ahead 19-4 and send Springbrook to their third consecutive loss and Eldorado's third win. Runs were scored by Chad, Kevin, Marty, Scott, Pat, Troy, Joe and Brad.

Springbrook battery combined for seven strikeouts,

Rattlesnake needs help

By ARLIN HACKMAN

Through the ages, snakes have been feared, misunderstood and maligned. Some people believe all snakes are venomous. Others consider them useless. Many dislike them "simply because they are snakes."

Fortunately this attitude is changing. Gradually the realization is spreading, through natural history education, that these reptiles play an important part in nature, consuming great numbers of insects and rodent pests. But will this change occur quickly enough in Ontario to prevent the extinction of our one and only poisonous snake, the eastern massassauga rattler?

Doug Andrews, vice president of the Ontario Amateur Softball Association [left] presented the Wellington team captain and coaches with a plaque after they won the Bantam baseball tournament held in Madoc last weekend.

Found chiefly along the shores of Georgian Bay to about 20 miles inland, on some of the islands and on the Bruce Peninsula, the massassauga also makes its home along some parts of the Lake Huron, Lake St. Clair and Lake Erie Shores. Although it dines chiefly on the mice found in rocky situations and meadows, the favorite habitat of this mild-mannered, rather sluggish little snake occurs in and around swamps. There it can be found searching for another staple, frogs, and often swimming some distance from shore.

Born in numbers of seven or eight during the summer months, the massassauga is a stout-bodied snake which seldom attains a length of more than two and a half feet. Its head is broad and distinct from the neck, the snout is blunt, and like all rattlers the massassauga also has the facial pits and cat-like eye pupils.

Despite its small size, this rattler is equipped to fend for itself, as it must from birth, with highly toxic venom which attacks the heart and circulation system. A bite from a massassauga has proven fatal in a few cases, though prompt medical treatment is sufficient to prevent this from happening. The chances of being bitten are very slight, however, as the massassauga prefers retreat to attack and tries to avoid encounters with humans. The greatest danger lies in accidentally stepping on one or, more commonly, in trying to capture or kill it.

In fact a far bigger worry is the threat which human settlement poses to the entire rattler population. Urban development and the draining of wetlands have taken a big toll already, and present scientific studies indicate the species has approached the first warning sign on the road to extinction.

As its numbers decline, scientific study becomes more difficult and it is important for public sightings and observations to be recorded. A handy booklet produced by the Federation of Ontario Nauralists provides accurate information on the massassauga and is useful preparation for anyone who comes across one of these reclusive snakes.

Eldorado Atoms play well

11 walks and 12 hits. Pat pitched for the winners with four strikeouts, one walk and seven hits. This victory put Eldorado in front with a 3-0 record, outscoring their opposition 58-16 in three games and should have given them the A Championship with no questions asked. But forced to sit through another rain delay, they had to play a fourth game to prove they were indeed number one. And prove it they did, with a convincing 20-8 victory over Madoc who finished round robin play 2-1.

Eldorado scored two runs in the top of the first, before rain again forced a delay. Runs were scored by Ian and Marty. Madoc scored three runs to go ahead in the bottom of the first on runs scored by Joey, Clayton and Andy.

In the second, Brad and Charlie G. scored to set Eldorado one run up but Madoc tied it up in the bottom of the second with a run scored by Pat. There was no scoring in the third but then Eldorado came alive as they collected three in the fourth on runs by Pat, Troy and Joe; four in the fifth on runs by Craig G., Ian, Marty and Scott, to go ahead 11-4. Ian scored the winning run.

But Madoc did not feel like hanging up the towel yet and came back with four more of their own on runs scored by Tim, Joey, Clayton and Bobby. But that was to be the end of their offense as Eldorado continued their hitting. They amassed another six runs in the sixth on runs by Joe, Brad, Charlie G., Charlie B., Craig G. and Chad.

In the seventh, they collected three more to win 20-8. Troy, Joe and Brad crossed the plate in the seventh.

Jason and Clayton pitched for the losers giving up 18 hits, 6 walks and 4 strikeouts. For the winners, Marty pitched 4-1/3 innings with 12 strikeouts, six walks and six hits. Pat pitched 2-2/3 innings with four strikeouts, two hits and no walks. A perfect 4-0 record for the day; outscoring the opposition 78-24; outhitting them 50-30.

A perfect end for a very good year: 36 games of ball with 28 victories, seven losses and one tie. League winners, tournament winners and ORSA semi-finalists. Congratulations guys. Coaches Laurie Trotter and Dale Graham. Players: Marty Shaw and Pat Graham sharing mound duties; Ian Ketcheson, catcher; infielders - Craig Griffen, Scott Tracey, Brad Andrews, Charlie Garrow and Charlie Brownson; outfielders - Scott Mosher, Paul Foley, Troy Trotter, Craig Hill, Joe McCaw, Chad Bateman and Kevin Lake.

Congratulations again boys for a job well done. See you on the field next year.

The Queensboro Lassies won the Centre Hastings Softball tournament held Aug. 13 at Queensboro. The girls beat Eldorado in the final game, to leave Eldorado in second place, Frankford in third and Springbrook fourth. Seen in the picutre are [back left-to-right]: Christine Jones, Kathy Morgan, Crissy Gordon, Kim Ramsay; [front] Anne Beudet, Nicky Devolin, Shannon Smith, Shelley Ramsay, Leanne Gordon and Jenny Lewis. # Minerals part of Hastings history

In many areas of Hastings County community settlement was directly related to the discovery and extraction of minerals, in particular gold and iron ore. Some communities, such as Marmora, have survived while others dwindled until they are only names on a map and a mention in a history book.

The Madawaska Uranium Mine could well be the last large scale mining operation within the county in terms of employment and product value. In 1981, the last full year of operation, the mine produced 225 tonnes of uranium valued at $24.5 million. When the mine closed in June 1982, 390 jobs and a $12 million payroll were lost.

Today, only three mineral producers remain active in the county - Canada Talc Industries Limited, Stoklosar Marble Quarries and Grenville Aggregate Specialties. All three companies have operations in the Madoc area.

The talc mine in Madoc, one of two active producers in Ontario, has been operating continuously since 1896. Talc from this operation is of a high quality and it is used as a filler in various industrial products.

Stoklosar Marble Quarries and Grenville Aggregate Specialities quarry colored marble chips which are used as a "cosmetic" in aggregate concrete and terrazzo. In 1981 the two companies operated ten quarries, of which seven were located in Madoc Township.

The mineral and aggregate study, prepared as a part of the Official Plan review, indicated that while there are a wide variety of mineral deposits within the county, only a few are of a quality and quantity to merit development at this time. The report states: "Both talc and terrazzo chips will continue to be the only minerals produced in Hastings in the forseeable future."

The availability of aggregate reserves, such as sand, gravel and stone, is an important asset to any municipality. Aggregates are primarily used in road construction and maintenance and by the concrete industry. The value of an aggregate reserve is directly related to its location in respect to the proposed used. The closer the deposit is to the point of use, the lower are the transportation costs and hence the more economical is the deposit.

There is also a direct relationship between population density, the extent of the road network and the demand for aggregate. Within Hastings County, aggregate extraction and quarry operations in the twelve southern townships require a license under the Pits and Quarries Control Act. The Ministry of Natural Resources is responsible for administering this Act. Effectively a tax is levied on the tonnes extracted. This money is retained by the Government and it is returned to the operator for rehabilitating the pit or quarry upon completion of the operation. Rehabilitation is much more than just a cosmetic procedure to beautify the landscape. There frequently is considerable overlap between high quality aggregate lands and high quality agricultural lands. Rehabilitation allows agricultural lands to be temporarily taken out of production and the material to be extracted.

In 1981 there were 485 thousand tonnes of sand and gravel valued at $600 thousand as well as 348 thousand tonnes of stone valued at $1.847 million extracted from the licensed pits and quarries in the southern townships. There are some excellent high quality deposits with the county. Limestone extrac-

440,000 acres of forest in Hastings County

Since the settlement of Hastings County men have earned their living from the forests. In the heyday of logging, the timber resources were considered inexhaustible. Photographs from the early 1900s show felled trees five feet in diameter. The rivers were the highways for the log-booms destined for markets in the south and to the east. Large tracts of land were razed and no consideration was given to reseeding. The soils, denuded by the clear cutting practices, were prone to erosion. Natural reseeding did occur, but the successive growth produced inferior tree species.

Today forestry remains an important economic base in the county, although the trees are smaller and the best quality species are less abundant. The Ministry of Natural Resources is responsible for the management of the timber resources through the MNR district offices. Hastings County lies within three districts - Bancroft, Tweed and Napanee. In 1977 the total dollar value of timber produced in these areas was $69 million - $59 million in the Bancroft district, $15 million in the Tweed district and $9 million in the Napanee district.

The forestry study undertaken by the County Planning Department emphasized the economic importance of forestry in the Bancroft area. In 1977, the twelve northern townships produced 91.5 million board feet of lumber. The district is estimated to produce 5.4 per cent of all provincial lumber, including 18.6 per cent of the total hardwood harvest.

The 1980 Forest Stand Listing estimated the northern timber reserves to be 800 million cubic feet covering 440 thousand acres. Hardwoods, such as maple, birch, elm, oak, ash and poplar, are the dominant species. Overall, the timber from this area is of a "Class 2" quality. The classification refers to the market value limitations of tion is carried on in the south. The Black River limestone and the Trenton limestone are important resources because they are accessible and highly versatile.

Many pits and quarries are owned by small scale local producers who will supply the aggregate on a contract basis to the larger producers. However, there are a number of construction companies who maintain their own large-scale operations.

Due to the significant transportation economies involved in aggregate operations it is important to protect high quality aggregate reserves, especially those which are located close to the urban centres and the major road networks.

It is the intent of the revised mineral extractive policies to ensure the availability and accessibility of these resources for the benefit of the county residents. The policies provide guidelines to ensure the proper management of the reserves and to ensure that the land will be rehabilitated to an acceptable state. In this manner the future needs of the county will be safeguarded and land use conflicts will be minimized.

How does land use effect environment?

A major concern of land use planning is determining the effects of development upon the environment. While there is an abundance of undeveloped land in the rural areas, not all sites are suitable for development. The environmental study prepared by the County Planning Department, identified two categories of environmental concern - hazard lakes and environmentally sensitive areas. In the first case the natural environment imperils development and in the second case development imperils the natural environment.

A hazard land is defined as "lands having inherent environmental hazard such as flood susceptibility or any other physical condition which is severe enough to cause property damage and/or potential loss of life if those lands were to be developed." Hazard lands are determined by aerial photographic interpretation and field checks.

A new tool being utilized to identify areas susceptible to flooding is flood plain mapping. The mapping is being prepared by the conservation authorities for those rivers which are prone to flooding. Within Hastings County, the mapping has delineated the flood lines for the Moira River (from Belleville to Highway 7), the Lower Trent River and the Crowe River based upon the 1 in 100 year flood. This floodline designation is based upon the worst projected flood that is likely to occur in a 100 year time frame.

A second delineation on the mapping is the fill line. Between the fill line and the flood line is an area of high erosion susceptibility and flood susceptibility due to ice jams. Within these designations, the local conservation authorities can establish regulations pertaining to development.

Generally development will be discouraged on hazard lands. However, in most cases hazard lands are not attractive for development or the engineering required to compensate is too costly. Swamp lands and marshes are more conducive to open space recreational and wildlife uses.

An environmentally sensitive area is an area of unique biological or geological features. These areas are important because they help maintain the natural diversity of biological communities within an area. "As the number of species of plants and animals is reduced, the ability of the entire ecosystem to withstand radical change is reduced." ESAs also provide a variety of recreational and educational opportunities serving as outdoor laboratories and museums, as is the case of the Nature Reserve Park. ESAs can be classified according to their significance on a provincial, regional and local level. Hastings County has a diverse selection of unique features, including caves, rare plant species, lakes, landforms and interesting wildlife habitats.

A special site in Northern Hastings is located at the Egan Chutes in Dungannon Township. The unique landforms of the chutes are an excellent example of precambrian medasedimentary belt. The area may also contain some rare biological communities attributable to the microclimate caused by the river, and the soil structure of the area. The Ministry of Natural Resources has designated the Egan Chutes a candidate Nature Reserve Park.

In Hungerford Township the Lime Lake/Dry Lake area is especially interesting. Both lakes have a marl bottom which affects the water color so that it is an emerald green. The Marlbank Esker traverses the area. An esker is an elongated ridge consisting of sands and gravel deposited by subglacial streams. This esker is a good example of such a phenomenon. The entire area is scenic and is part of a proposed scenic driving route.

There are several other sites in the county and these have been designated on the Official Plan. Generally development is discouraged in the ESAs and any proposed construction will require an environmental impact assessment. It is the intent of these policies to protect and preserve the natural heritage and the delicate ecosystems around us. The loss of a unique biotic community is irreversable. The knowledge to be gained and the enjoyment derived from its existence should be available to future generations!

Forestry still employs 800 in Hastings County

the timber due to defects such as rot, gnarls, windshake and so forth. The fewer the defects the higher is the market value for sawlogs and pulp wood. In the Bancroft district 40 per cent of the timber is cut locally and the remainder comes from crown land and private forests in other districts.

Forestry is the major industrial sector of northern Hastings. Six hundred men are directly employed in the sawmills alone. Independent jobbers and truckers also earn their living from forestry, moving wood to and from the mills. Mill operations consume a variety of utility and equipment maintenance services. Other businesses in the county are dependent upon the timber cut in the north, such as planing mills, the pulp and paper plant in Trenton, construction sales outlets and custom furniture makers. The ministry report of the Bancroft district suggests that one out of every four persons in the labor force derives his employment from the forest industry, either directly in the bush and sawmills or indirectly from services and sales. Preliminary reports from the 1981 census indicate that the forest industry has experienced significant growth since the last major census in 1971.

The lumber industry is sensitive to economic fluctuations. The recent recession severely curtailed the demand for sawlogs and pulp wood, and unemployment was high. However, as the economy strengthens the pent up demand for new construction and durable commodities will revitalize the industry.

Ensuring the availability of timber supplies requires long range planning and careful management of the timber lands. The Ministry of Natural Resources has ongoing reforestation programs on crown lands as well as on conservation agreement lands. However, an increasing supply of timber is being cut on private lands and these resources will continue to be important to the viability of forestry throughout the county. Consequently, the Ministry of Natural Resources is involved in administering woodland agreements with private landowners. These forests are managed for a wide range of forestry purposes. Within Hastings County there are approximately 200 agreement forests comprising over 3,000 acres. Nevertheless all reports indicate that the Bancroft region will continue to import timber in order to meet the demands of the local sawmills.

The revised policies of the Official Plan encourage the wise utilization and management of the timber lands to ensure the continued viability of the lumber industry. The policies support woodlot agreements and considers this policy instrumental to achieve the forestry potential of the area. Through these measures and the continued efforts of the Ministry of Natural Resources, the forests will remain a productive resource.

Guides active

24, 15 girls from Madoc and 24 girls from Marmora went for a 7-day camping trip to Wanpoof and Picton. This trip coincided with the drought, and there was a ban on camp fires in effect to prevent forest fires.

"The girls were extremely disappointed, and that's putting it mildly," says Hagerman, "because they couldn't do a lot of things related to camp that they usually do."

Hagerman says that about 50 per cent of the camping trip is normally spent cooking over camp fires. So in place of this extra time the girls spent more time learning first aid, astronomy, playing games, learning skills with camping gadgets, learning to build proper wood piles, and more.

In the meantime, the leaders had to do all the cooking inside.

One of the other opportunities the girls had while camping was a chance to sleep under the stars one night.

"All in all, I'll admit it was a good camp," says Mrs. Hagerman. "It was a learning experience."

For the first time, the girls travelled to the camp via bus. In previous years the girls all went in their individual parents' cars. Hagerman feels using the bus was a good idea and one they will probably use next year.

After the September registration date, the leader says they hope to have some weekend camps for the girls at Quin-mo-lac. The tentative date is P.D. Day in November.

For the next year, Hagerman says the focus will be on more community work. They hope to do more work like catering for the seniors.

"Next year, hopefully, we'll have a similar year with additional community work like with the seniors," says Hagerman, "because we're there, so let the community use us."

Last year there were 34 girl guides in the Madoc company. Hagerman is unsure of how many guides will enrol in September but urges anyone interested in helping to contact her, because they're "always looking for leaders -- always."

Eldorado Beauties advance to finals with road victory

Twenty-eight fans and players travelled to Hickson on Sunday, August 28, for the second game of the ORSA semi-finals. The game was played in terrific heat.

Susan Shaw led off for the Beauties with a walk. Andrea Peters then fanned. Linda Bailey reached safely on an infield hit. With two on and one out, Patti Brownson worked the pitcher for a walk. Paula Harris took count to full before fanning. Suzanne Franks fielded into a fielder's choice.

In the bottom of the first, Sarah led off with an infield hit and reached third on an overthrow at first. Three successive pitches retired Michelle Wilken. Then three more sent Kim Weuten back to the bench. Gwen was thrown out at first on an infield hit.

Candy Osborne was lead-off batter for the Beauties and again lead-off batter walked. Paula Curtis then was retired on strikes. Candy Osborne was then caught on a lead-off. Elizabeth Wood then took count to full before being set down on strikes. Pitcher for Hickson Tara Thompson led off the inning with a walk. Tiffany Dukery then went down on strikes. Tara advanced to second on a wild pitch. Leanne Kitching fielded out to first to advance Tara to third. Liz Dillow then went down on strikes.

In the third, with a brief rest from the sun, Susan led off the inning with a swinging third strike. Andrea reached first on a beautiful bunt. Linda then hit into a line drive to second which doubled Andrea off first.

Tammy Kalbfleisch led off the third with a three pitch strikeout. Sarah then fielded out to third for the second out. On three more pitches Michelle Wilken returned to the bench.

In the fourth, Linda made it to first on a bunt. Paula H. then collected the first hit of the game and then advanced to second on an overthrow. A wild pitch advanced her to third. Suzanne then went down on strikes. She was left on third as Candy was left at the plate.

Kim Weuten led off for Hickson with a walk. Gwen then reached on a hit pitch. Tara was third batter. A wild pitch advanced both runners. Another walk loaded the bases. Tiffany singled to score Kim and Gwen. Leanne was retired on strikes for first out. Liz followed with another strikeout. Tammy was also left at the plate.

Paula Curtis led off the fifth, grounding out to first. Elizabeth reached on a walk, advanced to second on a wild pitch and to third on an overthrow. Susan then went down on strikes. Andrea grounded out to first.

Sarah led off the bottom of the fifth fielding out to the pitcher. Michelle reached on an error and second on a passed ball and on to third on a wild pitch. Kim also reached on a free pass. An error allowed Gwen to reach safely and Sarah to score. Tara also reached a free pass. Tiffany was at bat when the ball was Wellington beat out Binbrook 6-1 in the final game of the Ontario Amateur Softball Association [OASA] Bantam tournament held in Madoc last weekend. Seven districts were represented, with the hosting team from Madoc as number eight. The Madoc boys did well at the double-elimination tournament, losing their first game 10-1 against Sharbot Lake, winning their second 7-1 against Minesing, winning their third game 8-0 against Englehart and losing their fourth game 6-3 against Goodwood. The winning team did not lose a single game.

The California Cuties novelty baseball team were taken a bit by surprise last Thursday night when they were beaten by real women: The Springbrook Selects took the match, which was played before a packed house in Springbrook by a score of 3-2.

Norwood loses semi-finals

On Saturday, Aug. 27, the Norwood Bantam Girls were on the road to Hornby to play the third and deciding game against the Innerkip team for ORSA semi-final playoffs.

These two teams proved very evenly matched, the outcome resulting in the team that came up with the lucky breaks. That team proved to be Innerkip as the locals went down to defeat by a 6-3 count. The local girls came up with a lot of good hits but they were up in the air and the opposition was in the right spot to field them.

But we would like everyone to know that these girls have just completed one super ball season, and their parents and coaches are very proud and pleased with the effort put out by each and every player. They are now getting ready for a weekend they will never forget, resulting from their 1983 ball season, the Summer Games in Sudbury. They are representing all Bantam Girls teams in the Ontario Rural Softball Association.

Good luck girls and have one, super weekend. They will be leaving Norwood Friday, Sept. 2nd, their first game will be against the Sudbury team at 8 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 3. When this article appears the girls will have also been to Peterborough and have taken part in the Flames ceremony; it leaves Monday, August 29, for the Summer Games in Sudbury.

P.S. Girls! You're still No. 1 in our books!

FEEDING SWEET CORN WASTE

The dry summer has reduced potential crop yields, in some areas at least, so that some livestock producers are looking around for alternative feed sources.

In this area, one of these is sweet corn cannery waste -- a combination of husks, cobs and immature kernels of sweet corn. The easiest comparison to make with cannery waste is corn silage, however, there is one important difference. Normally, corn silage is harvested and ensiled at 30-40 per cent dry matter, while most cannery waste falls in the range of 15-20 per cent dry matter.

In other words, when you buy cannery waste it will normally have a high moisture content and this should be considered in the purchase price. The high moisture content may lead to further problems when it comes to storage and handling. Because of the high moisture, storage in an upright silo is not recommended due to the seepage. A concrete pad, bunk silo with concrete floor, or a gravel base, are recommended. Seepage is an environmental concern and can, and does, cause problems where it enters a stream or into the ground water, causing pollution. A collection area -- tank or pit -- is recommended so the material can be pumped to an area where pollution is not a problem.

On a dry matter basis, sweet corn waste is equal to corn silage at approximately eight per cent, however, normally the energy value is about 75-80 per cent of that of corn silage -- 50-55 per cent compared to 67 per cent in corn silage. For feeding purposes, the high moisture content will restrict consumption in lighter cattle and a full ration will result in some reduction in gains for fat cattle as compared to corn silage. It does, however, make excellent feed for beef cows, and can constitute part of the ration for feeders.

What is it worth? The variation in moisture content and quality makes it difficult to compare with corn silage. If we assume that corn silage has a harvest value of $20 per tonne, with a 35 per cent dry matter content, sweet corn waste at 20 per cent dry matter would have a value of $10-$11 per tonne -- the lower energy value could reduce this again by $1-$2 per tonne. A problem - cannery waste has to be trucked and stored, and trucking normally is a major factor in costing from the plant to the farm. In short, cannery waste can be a good source of feed, providing storage is not a problem and trucking costs are not too high.

Agriculture

NEW WINTER WHEAT VARIETIES

Two newly licensed wheat varieties are recommended and available this fall. The varieties Augusta and Frankenmuth have excellent milling qualities and high test weight. Both varieties tested high in this area (area 2) in regional trials -- in 19 tests across the area, yields were six - eight per cent better than Fredrick. Augusta is listed as having more resistance to leaf rust and lodging than varieties other than Fredrick. The varieties will be marketed through W.G. Thompson and Sons, Ltd., and King Grains Ltd.

HAMILTON - In memory of a loving husband, Alex, who passed away Aug. 29, 1982.
I remember the day I met you,
And the day God made you mine.
I remember the day I lost you,
And will till the end of time.
With all the tears & heartache,
The one thing that makes me glad,
I was given the chance to share with you,
All the wonderful years we had.
There is no parting from those we love,
No distance can divide.
For today in memory lane,
We still walk side by side.
My thoughts are always with you,
Your place no one can fill.
In life I loved you dearly,
In death I love you still.
I know you walk beside me,
And when my life is through.
I pray that God will take my hand,
And lead me straight to you.
Forever remembered & missed by wife Ruby. -11

HAMILTON - In loving memory of our dad & grandfather, Alex Hamilton, who passed away on Aug. 29, 1982.
Dad is such a special word,
A word that brings to mind.
A big warm smile, a helping hand,
A way of being kind.
Devotion to a family,
A word of patience too.
Dad is such a special word,
Because it stands for you.
You were there when we were small,
To soothe our childhood fears.
There was always love & wisdom,
To enrich our growing years.
When we came to you with problems,
You helped us work them out.
You were the one who taught us
What life is all about.
You were there to show your pride in us,
On graduation day.
And there to bless our marriages,
And to give the brides away,
It seems that you have always played,
A most important part.
In all the happy memories,
We hold within our hearts.
Now we all have little ones,
Who played about your knee.
And listened to the stories,
You used to tell to me.
Now the family circle's broken,
You've left us to carry on.
God called you home a year ago,
Your work on earth was done.
And though a year has passed,
Since you reached eternal rest.
Someday, somehow we'll understand,
Why God always takes the best.
Sadly missed & always remembered by all his children & grandchildren. -11

WIDDOWS - In loving memory of a dear husband, father & grandfather, George "Poppy" who passed away Aug. 17, 1978.
Always remembered,
Always loved, by wife Eileen & family. -11

RODGERS - In loving memory of James Rollon Rodgers. Two years since you have gone Aug. 25, 1981.
Every day I miss you more,
The days are so lonely without you.
But God needed a flower for His bouquet,
And took you to help fill it.
There is never a day goes by that you are not in my mind & you are missed so much.
Ever remembered by wife Jean Rodgers, daughters Elaine & Margerite, grandson Chris. -11

ELLIS - In loving memory of our dear Mom & Dad, Lila who passed away Sept. 3, 1982 & Charlie, who passed away Dec. 7, 1972.
Their lives were earnest,
Their actions kind.
Generous hands & active minds,
Anxious to please, loathe to offend.
Loving parents & faithful friends. Always loved & remembered, Bernice, Art & Ivan. -11

SOLMES - In loving memory of a dear nephew & cousin, Faron, who passed away 1 year ago, Aug. 19.
One year has passed since that sad day,
When one we loved was called away.
God took him home, it was His will,
But in our hearts we love him still.
His memory is as dear today,
As in the hour he passed away.
Sadly missed by Aunt Phyllis & family. -11
